Years from now, when the freshness of your present experience has mellowed and when the time spent at Tech has faded into a distant memory, you may look at this book. On these pages you will see again the halls of Tech and the days of your youth.

In a volume like this it is possible to give only an inkling of what the life at Tech is completely.

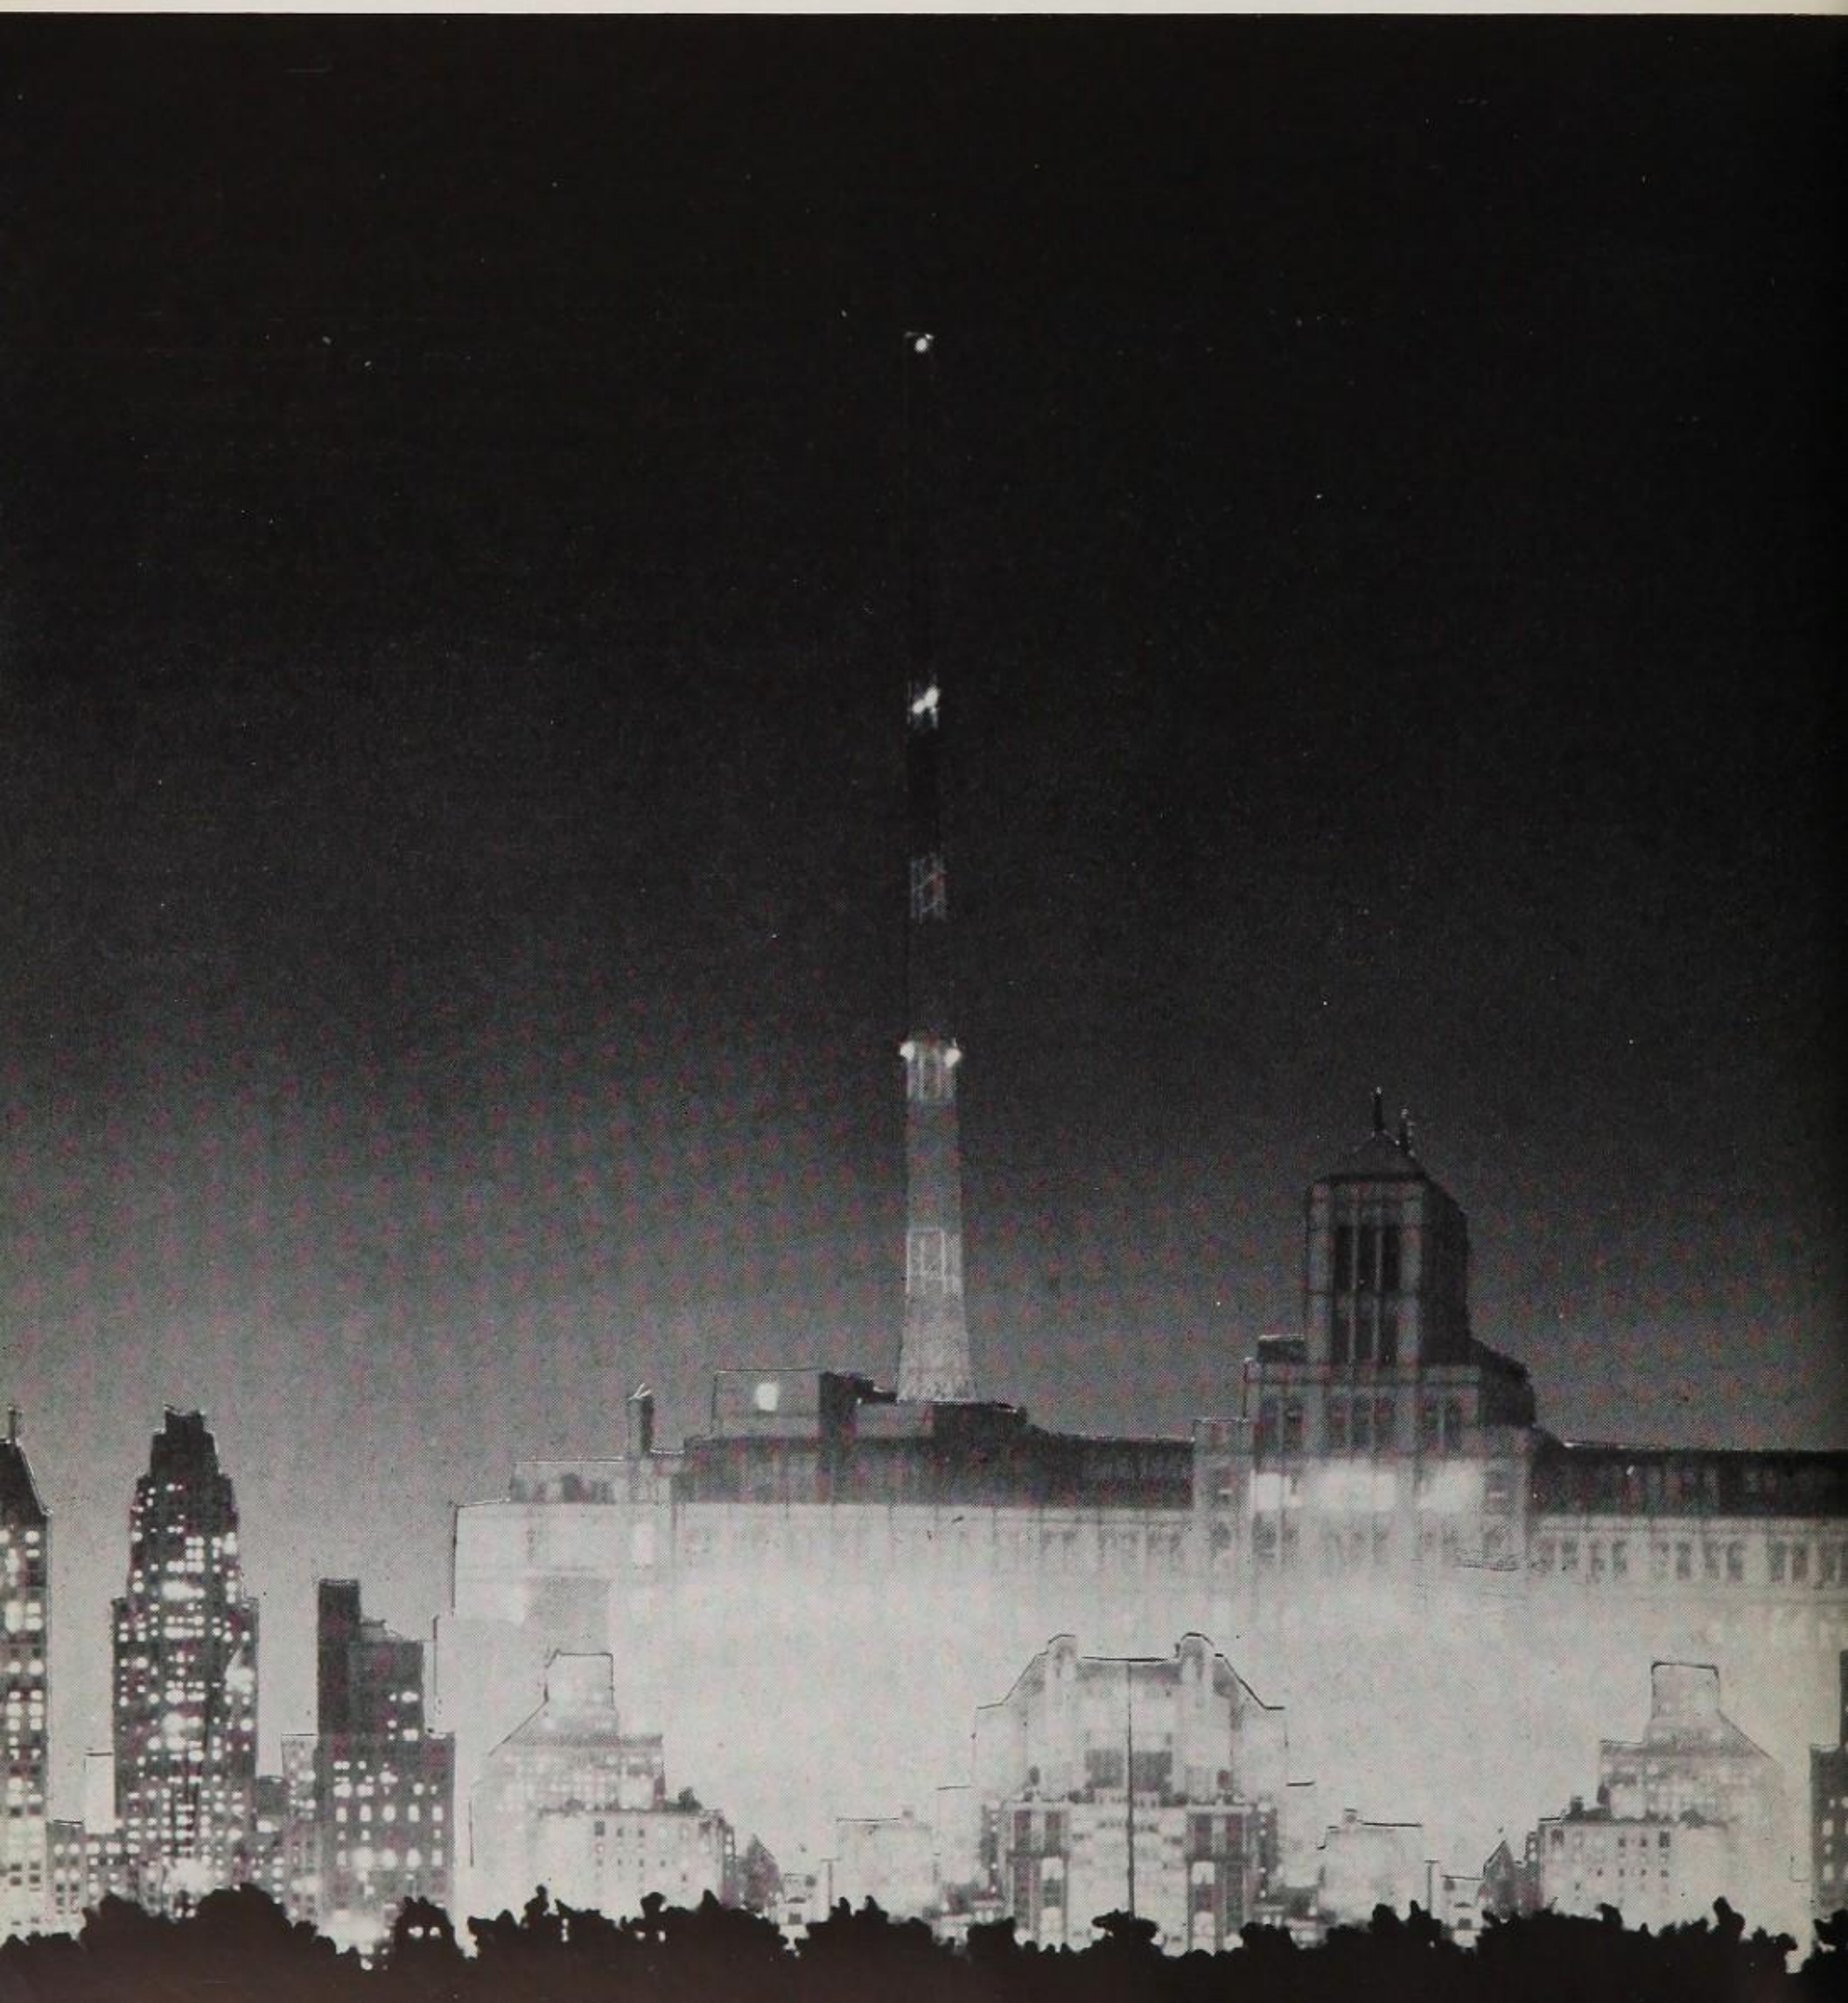

But no matter how fragmentary any treatment naturally must be, we hope that this book captures much of our school. And what is more important, we hope that it gives a cross section of you, the students.

For it is you who make our institution. It is you who give it life, who bestow on it its humor and its foibles. And it is you who make its character.

Those of us who will soon march quietly up through the auditorium, out of Tech and into the world, will never forget the years spent here. We will look back sometimes as we make our way forward.

It is in this spirit that we present this issue of the Blueprint. . . .

OUR PRINCIPAL

DIRECTS HIS MESSAGE

To The Seniors

During the war it was a popular theme of writers and orators to describe the anticipated wonders of the post-war world. Sometimes the picture of the future was so overdrawn that it became a caricature. Inevitably some people have become disillusioned and a pessimism as extreme as the optimism it replaced is now becoming evident.

Where-in have we failed? Certainly there has been no lack in knowledge of the principles of applied science and technology to make the most rosy of our dreams come true. Neither do we lack the materials nor the industrial 'know how'. Our force of skilled labor is numerically the largest in the nation's history. The banks are crammed with idle capital, awaiting a profitable opportunity to be put to work.

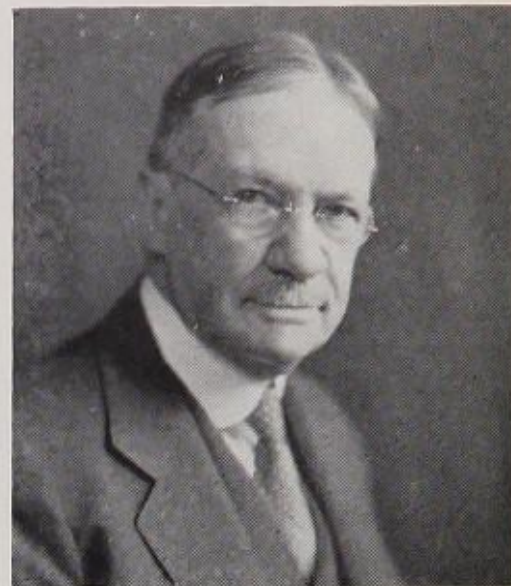

What then, is the cause of the present industrial confusion? Fundamentally it is a trait in our national character that has been slowly developing since World War I. It is the desire to get something for nothing. Wealth without production and profits without work have become the aims of all too many of our citizens. During the so-called 'boom twenties' this was manifested by wild speculations on the stock exchange. The crash and the depression which followed did not, however, decrease the desire to get something for nothing. We are now witnessing a period during which we are trying to combine the incompatible ingredients of more pay, fewer hours, and less production per hour into a popular but infantile slogan.

There is nothing wrong with the desire for higher pay and shorter hours. There has been a long trend in this direction and it will continue. It only becomes absurd when we couple with it an unwillingness to work and produce those shorter hours.

During your stay in Tech, you learned to work for what you got. Generally speaking, your rewards were in proportion to your exertions. You will find the same thing to be true in college and in industry. Don't waste time trying to get something for nothing. If you do, you will find it worth just what you paid for it—nothing!

Your days as a Tech student are almost over. When you leave, go as a loyal son of Tech. Enhance her prestige by the things you do and say. In so doing, you enhance your own. May you have serenity, good health and success.

Dear, Dear, Administration

Remember what we heard?—When we would get to Tech we would have to walk in pairs, always be on our guard. Oh! It was all very hush-hush!

Oh! It was all very hush-hush! One of the faculty was Draja Jownhundakha, a blood-thirsty Arabian in disguise, who escaped several years ago from Devil's Island, stowed away on a Chinese freighter, and blackmailed his way into a teacher's position at Brooklyn Tech.

In Tech at last—and four years of it—many of us are still seen walking in pairs, one leaning upon the other for support. It's been rough, plenty rough, but (lucky us), as yet no one has met up with Draja. He seems to have disappeared.

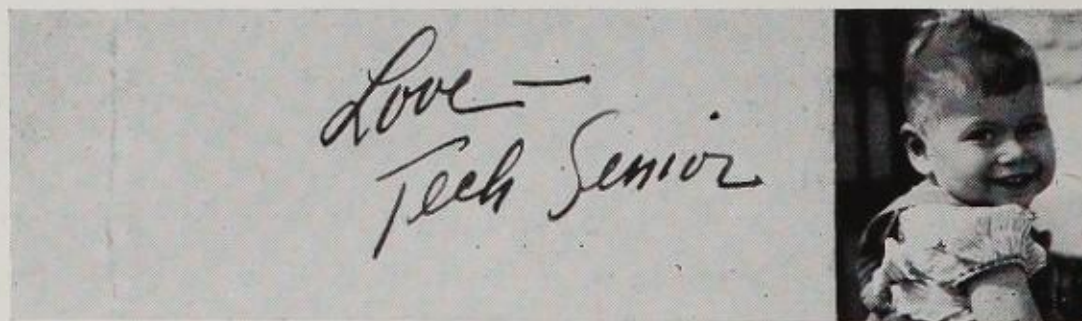

For four long years, we labored hard under wise and steady hands. It is now time that we leave, and we deem it only right before we go, to humbly thank the greying, slightly-bald math prof, and the comely, well-groomed and tailored English teacher who typify the Faculty for their patience, understanding, and ninety-five averages.

With Pallet and Brush

There were those among us to whom concentric circles and harmony proved to be interesting stuff. They became part of the Art, or as it is now called, the Industrial Design Course.

The jet-propelled fountain-pens in the seventh floor showcases are not the only work done by the members of the course, who produce some of the illustrations for the school's publications in addition to their commercial art, design, and regular academic work.

Art, one of the universal languages, is important in the life of every Technite.

Gezundheit!

Pass me some more of the sauerkraut, Wilhelm. I need brain food for the German test. Danke! Ach, das ist gut. One pound of raw sauerkraut, and two schnitzel! Das ist the only way to pass a German test.

Taking German in Tech is a combination of many factors, not the least of which is the exposure to one of the greatest joys of our embryonic engineers' hearts, The German Science Reader.

Next in line (though not in size place) is a small volume laughingly given the monicker, Altes und Neues. But why speak of the noose.

The delicate, lingering fragrance of H_2S is familiar to every Technite, but it is the boys of the Chem Course who really must suffer.

Organic chemistry is not as they had expected (playing with organs such as livers, hearts, harmonicas, etc.) They study alcohol and wallow through ethers, proteins, aromatic acids, dyes, and plastics, until they get to aspirins.

And then quantitative analysis, and the grand terminal of all Chem Course boys, the industrial laboratory! No further comments necessary!

Mr. McNeil

Ooh, La La!

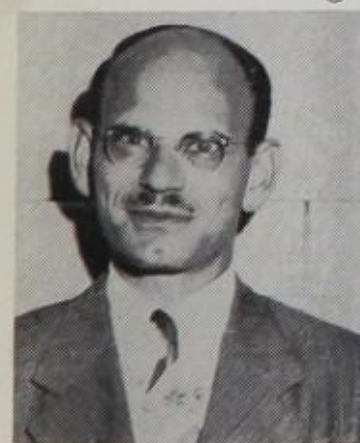

“Embrassez-moi! That means how are you!” you softly tell her. You leer expectantly and you secretly bless Mr. Sverdlove for your savoir-faire.

Remember Lecons De Choses? (How could you forget?) Read that for a few weeks and you're bound to know quite a few French words . . . like jeunes filles, and glug, and amour, and plus de jeunes filles.

Now that the sweating is over and the forgetting is beginning in earnest, we realize that the knowledge of a foreign language has greatly increased our understanding of other cultures.

"... and the chisel slipped and went clear through his stomach." Thus the average freshman is introduced to shop at Tech. The safety angle was not only stressed by beware stories.

There were those unforgettable safety rules to be copied, and copied, and copied. Students Should Not Throw Articles From and To the Balcony. . . .

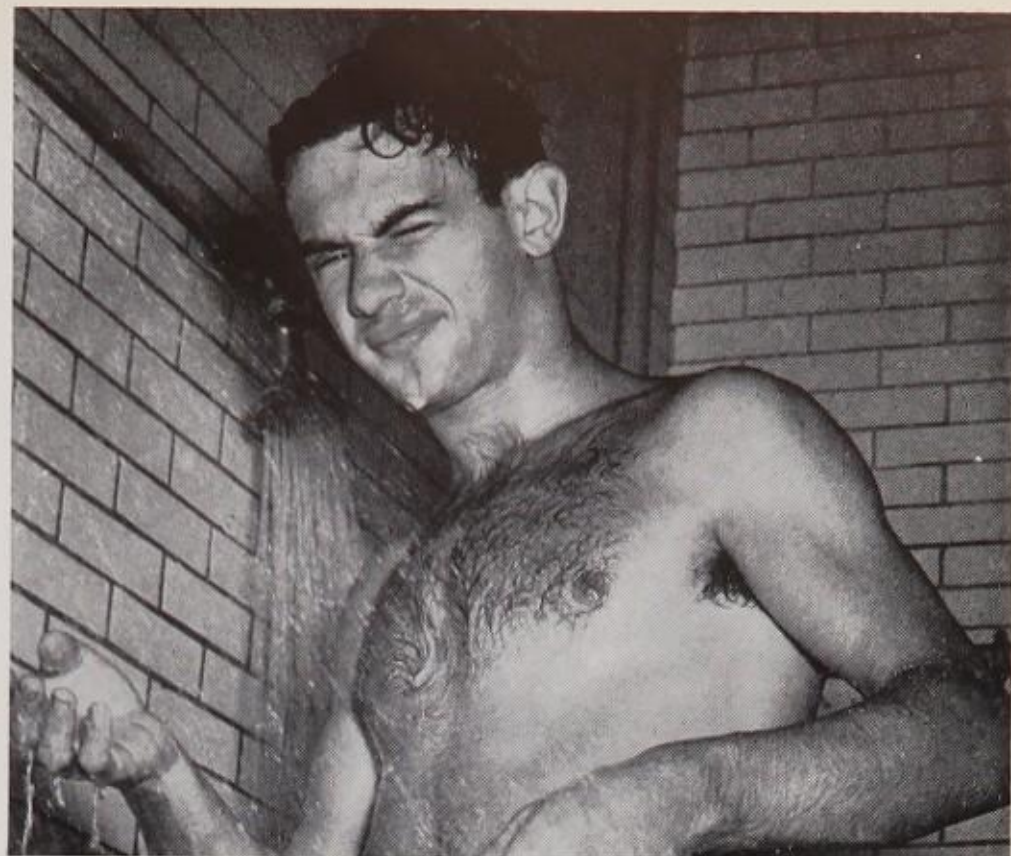

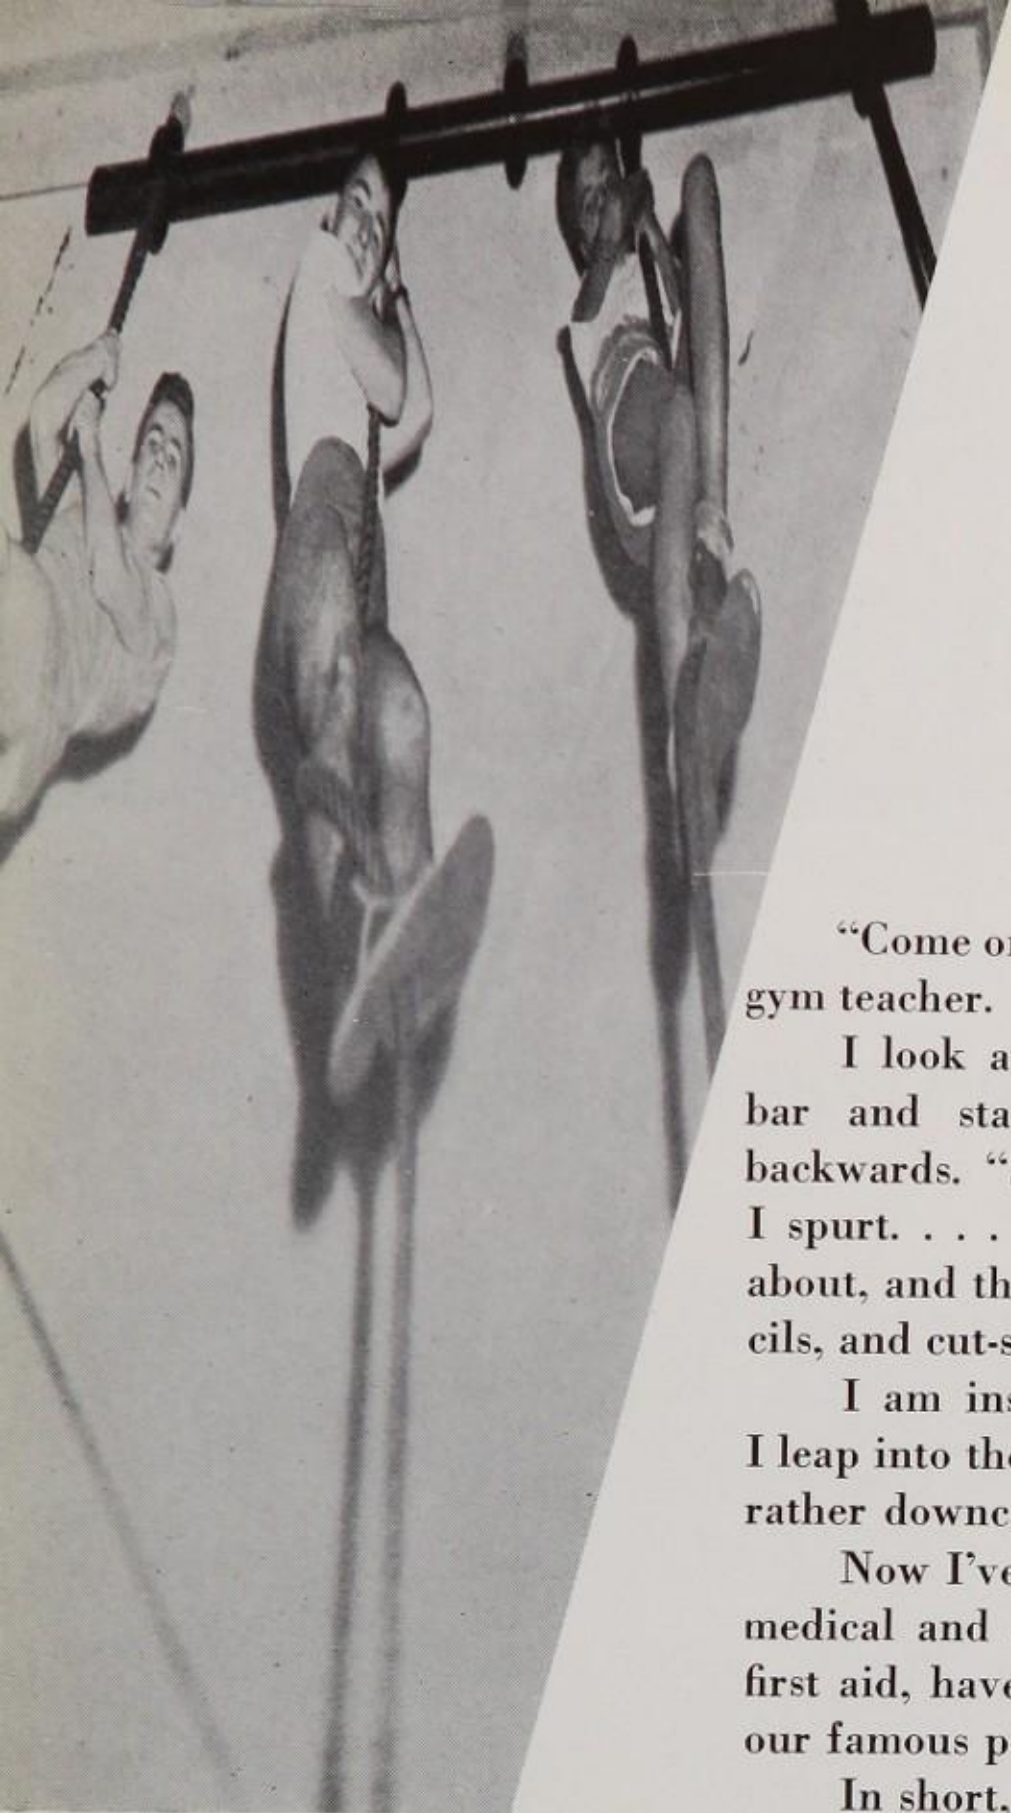

From the first term's pattern-making to foundry, sheetmetal and forge, the various machine shops, printing technology, and the many specialized and advanced shops, we learned what talents were hidden in our hands. We learned to transform the theories and ideas of the classroom into actual practice.

The practical work at Tech's shops helped us to understand better the problems actually encountered by the engineer in the industrial world.

Mr. Baumritter

"Come on," says the gym teacher. "Just try."

I look at the high-bar and start inching backwards. "Show me,"

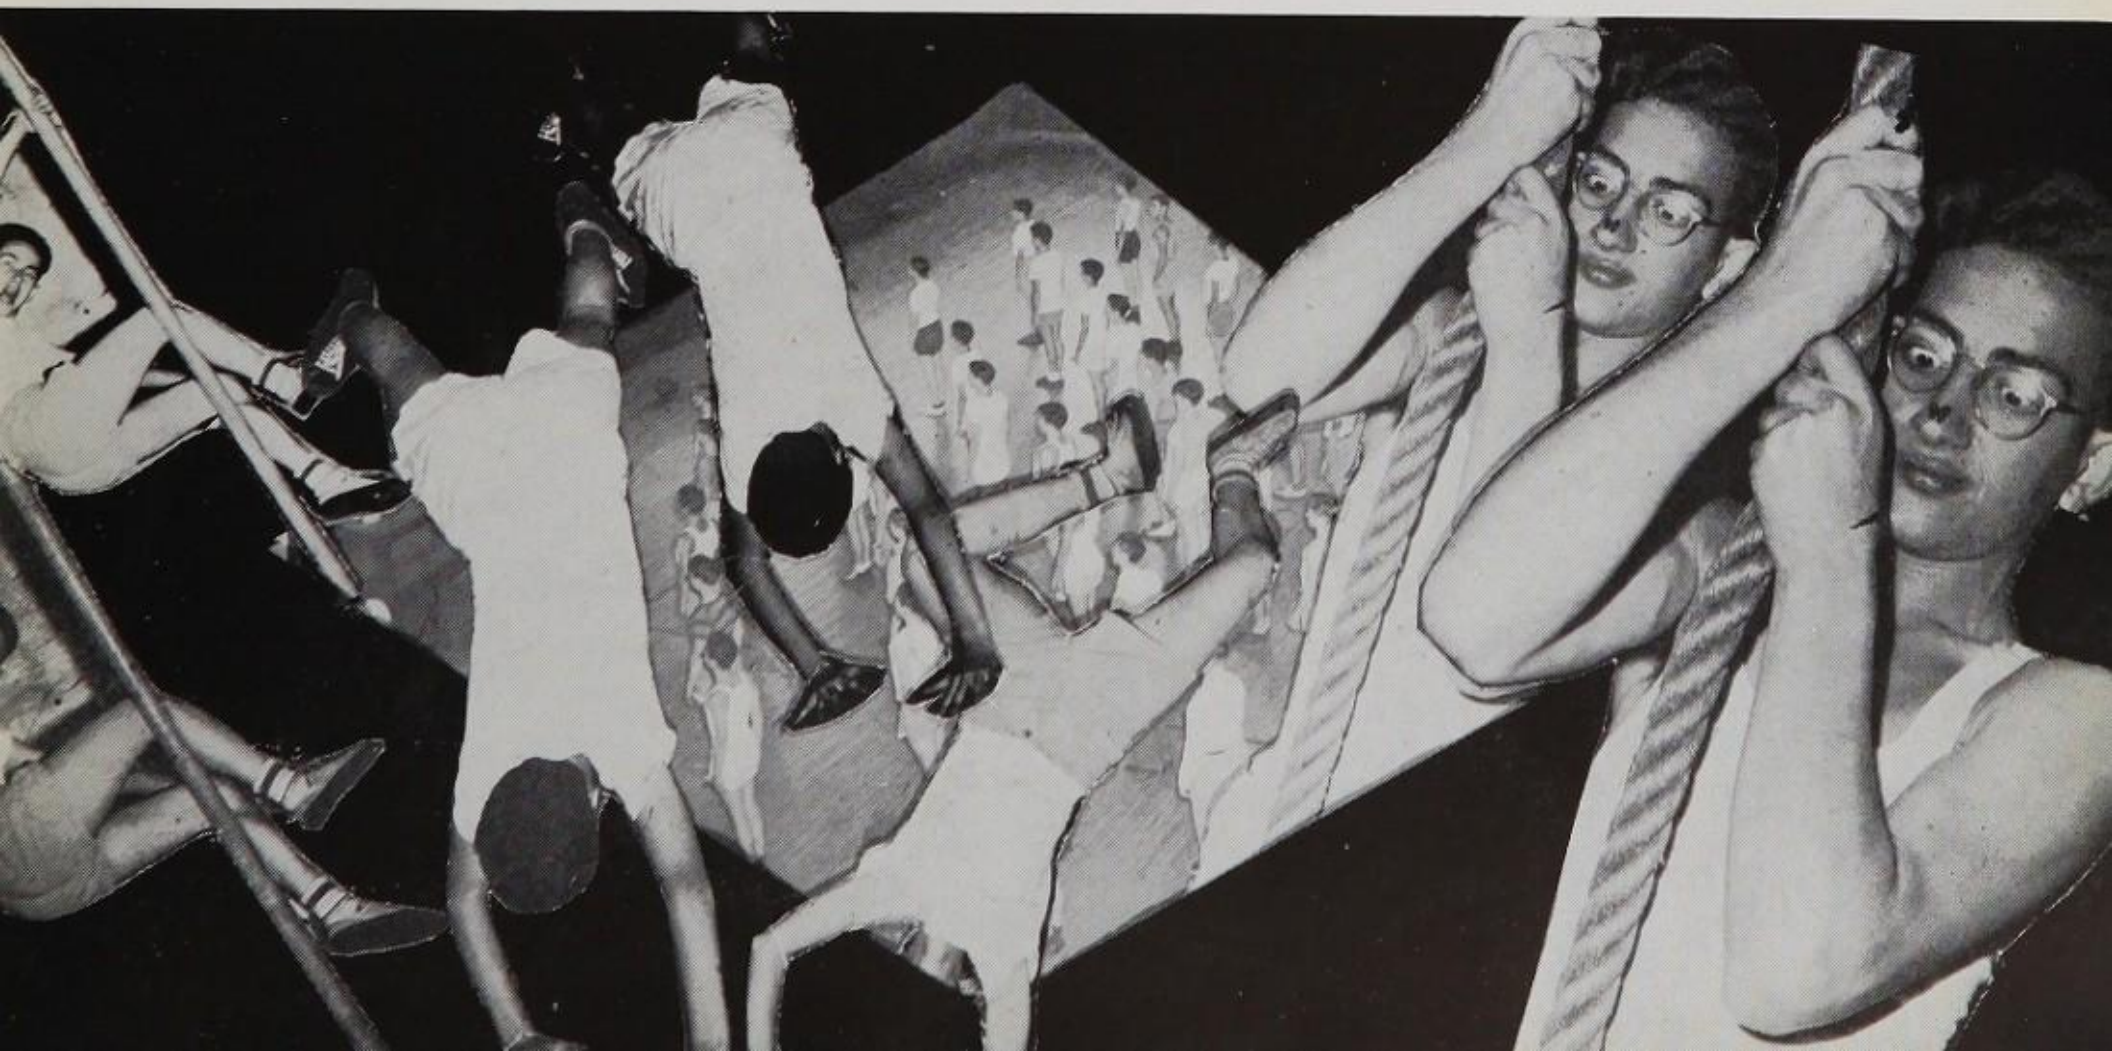

I spurt. . . . And he does. Springing up, he starts whirling about, and the fun begins. Whistles, handkerchiefs, keys, pencils, and cut-slips spatter down upon the mat.

I am inspired by this exhibition of masculine strength. I leap into the air, grasp at the bar. . . . Flat on my face; I feel rather downcast. That was in first term.

Now I've passed all my gym tests, brought in four sets of medical and dental notes, finished two years of hygiene and first aid, have taken several baths in the refreshing waters of our famous pool, have played basketball, and done all the rest.

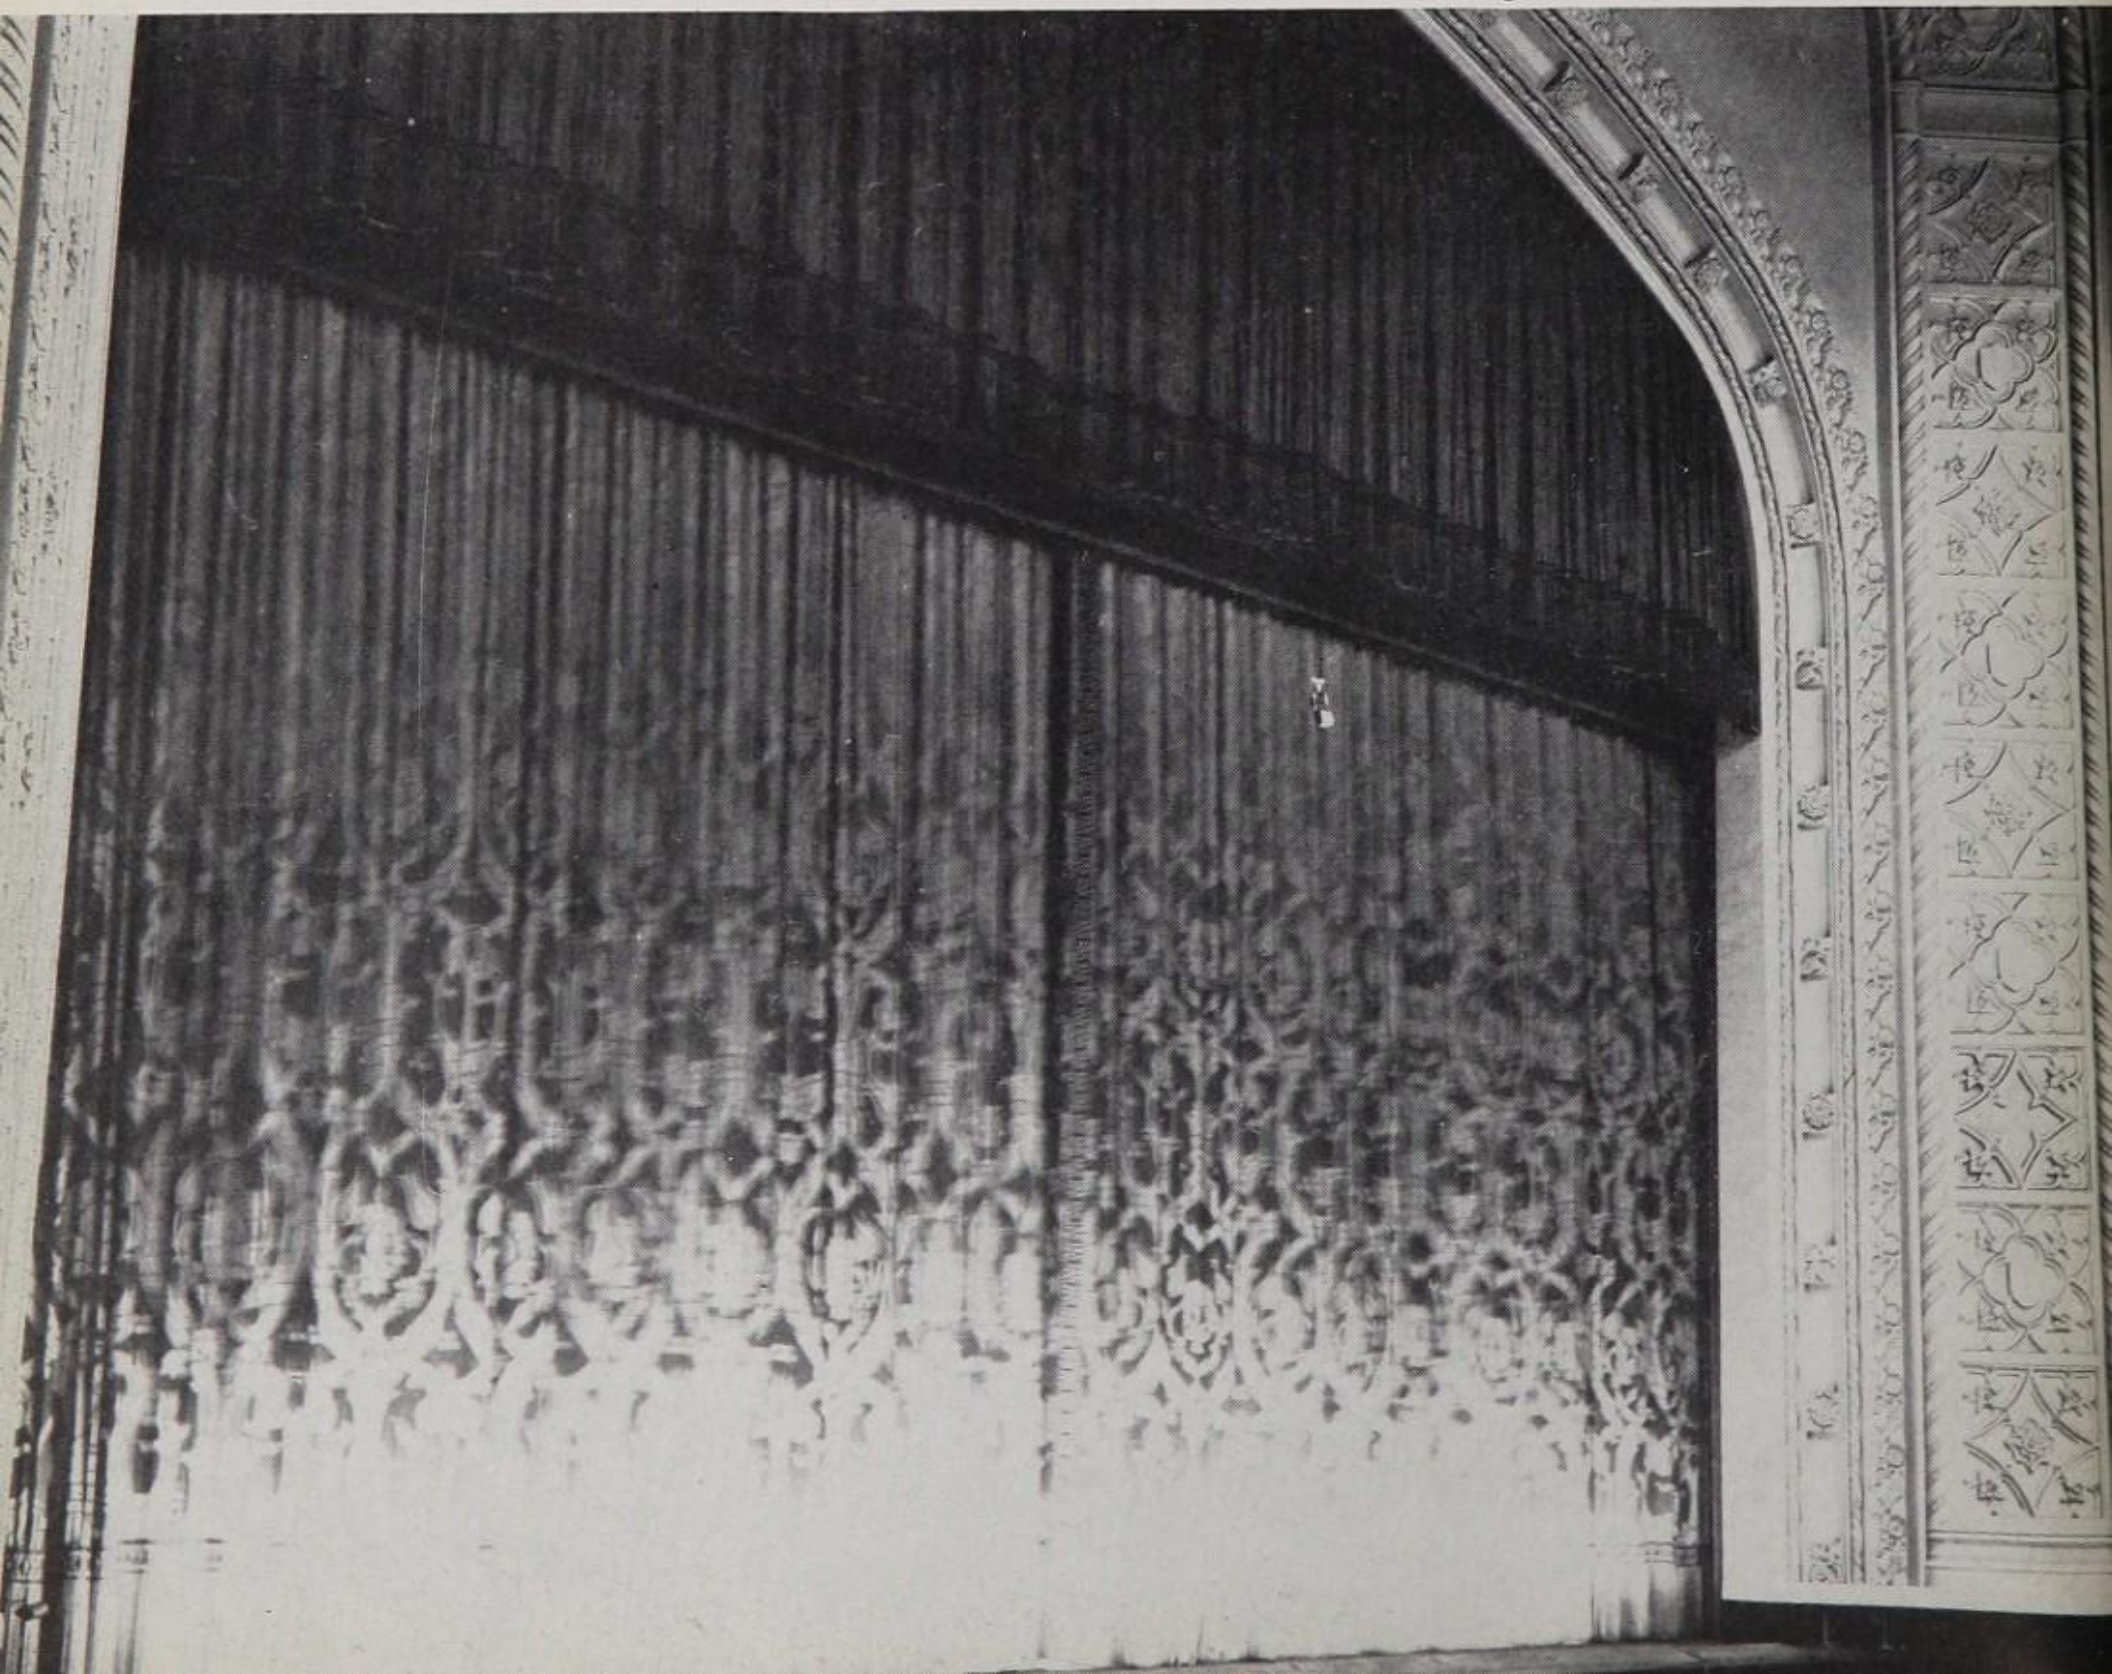

In short, I've passed it all and am now a full-fledged Tech Commando.

3012. A magic number. 3012 luxuriant, upholstered seats. It's bigger than most of the downtown New York theatres, beautifully equipped and decorated. Size impresses us most at first.

The assembly means a lot to us. Here we are welcomed to a strange new world.

Tragedy—A few thousand boys falter in to give a heart-rending performance as they take their entrance exams. The proctoring Arista boys make a very sympathetic audience.

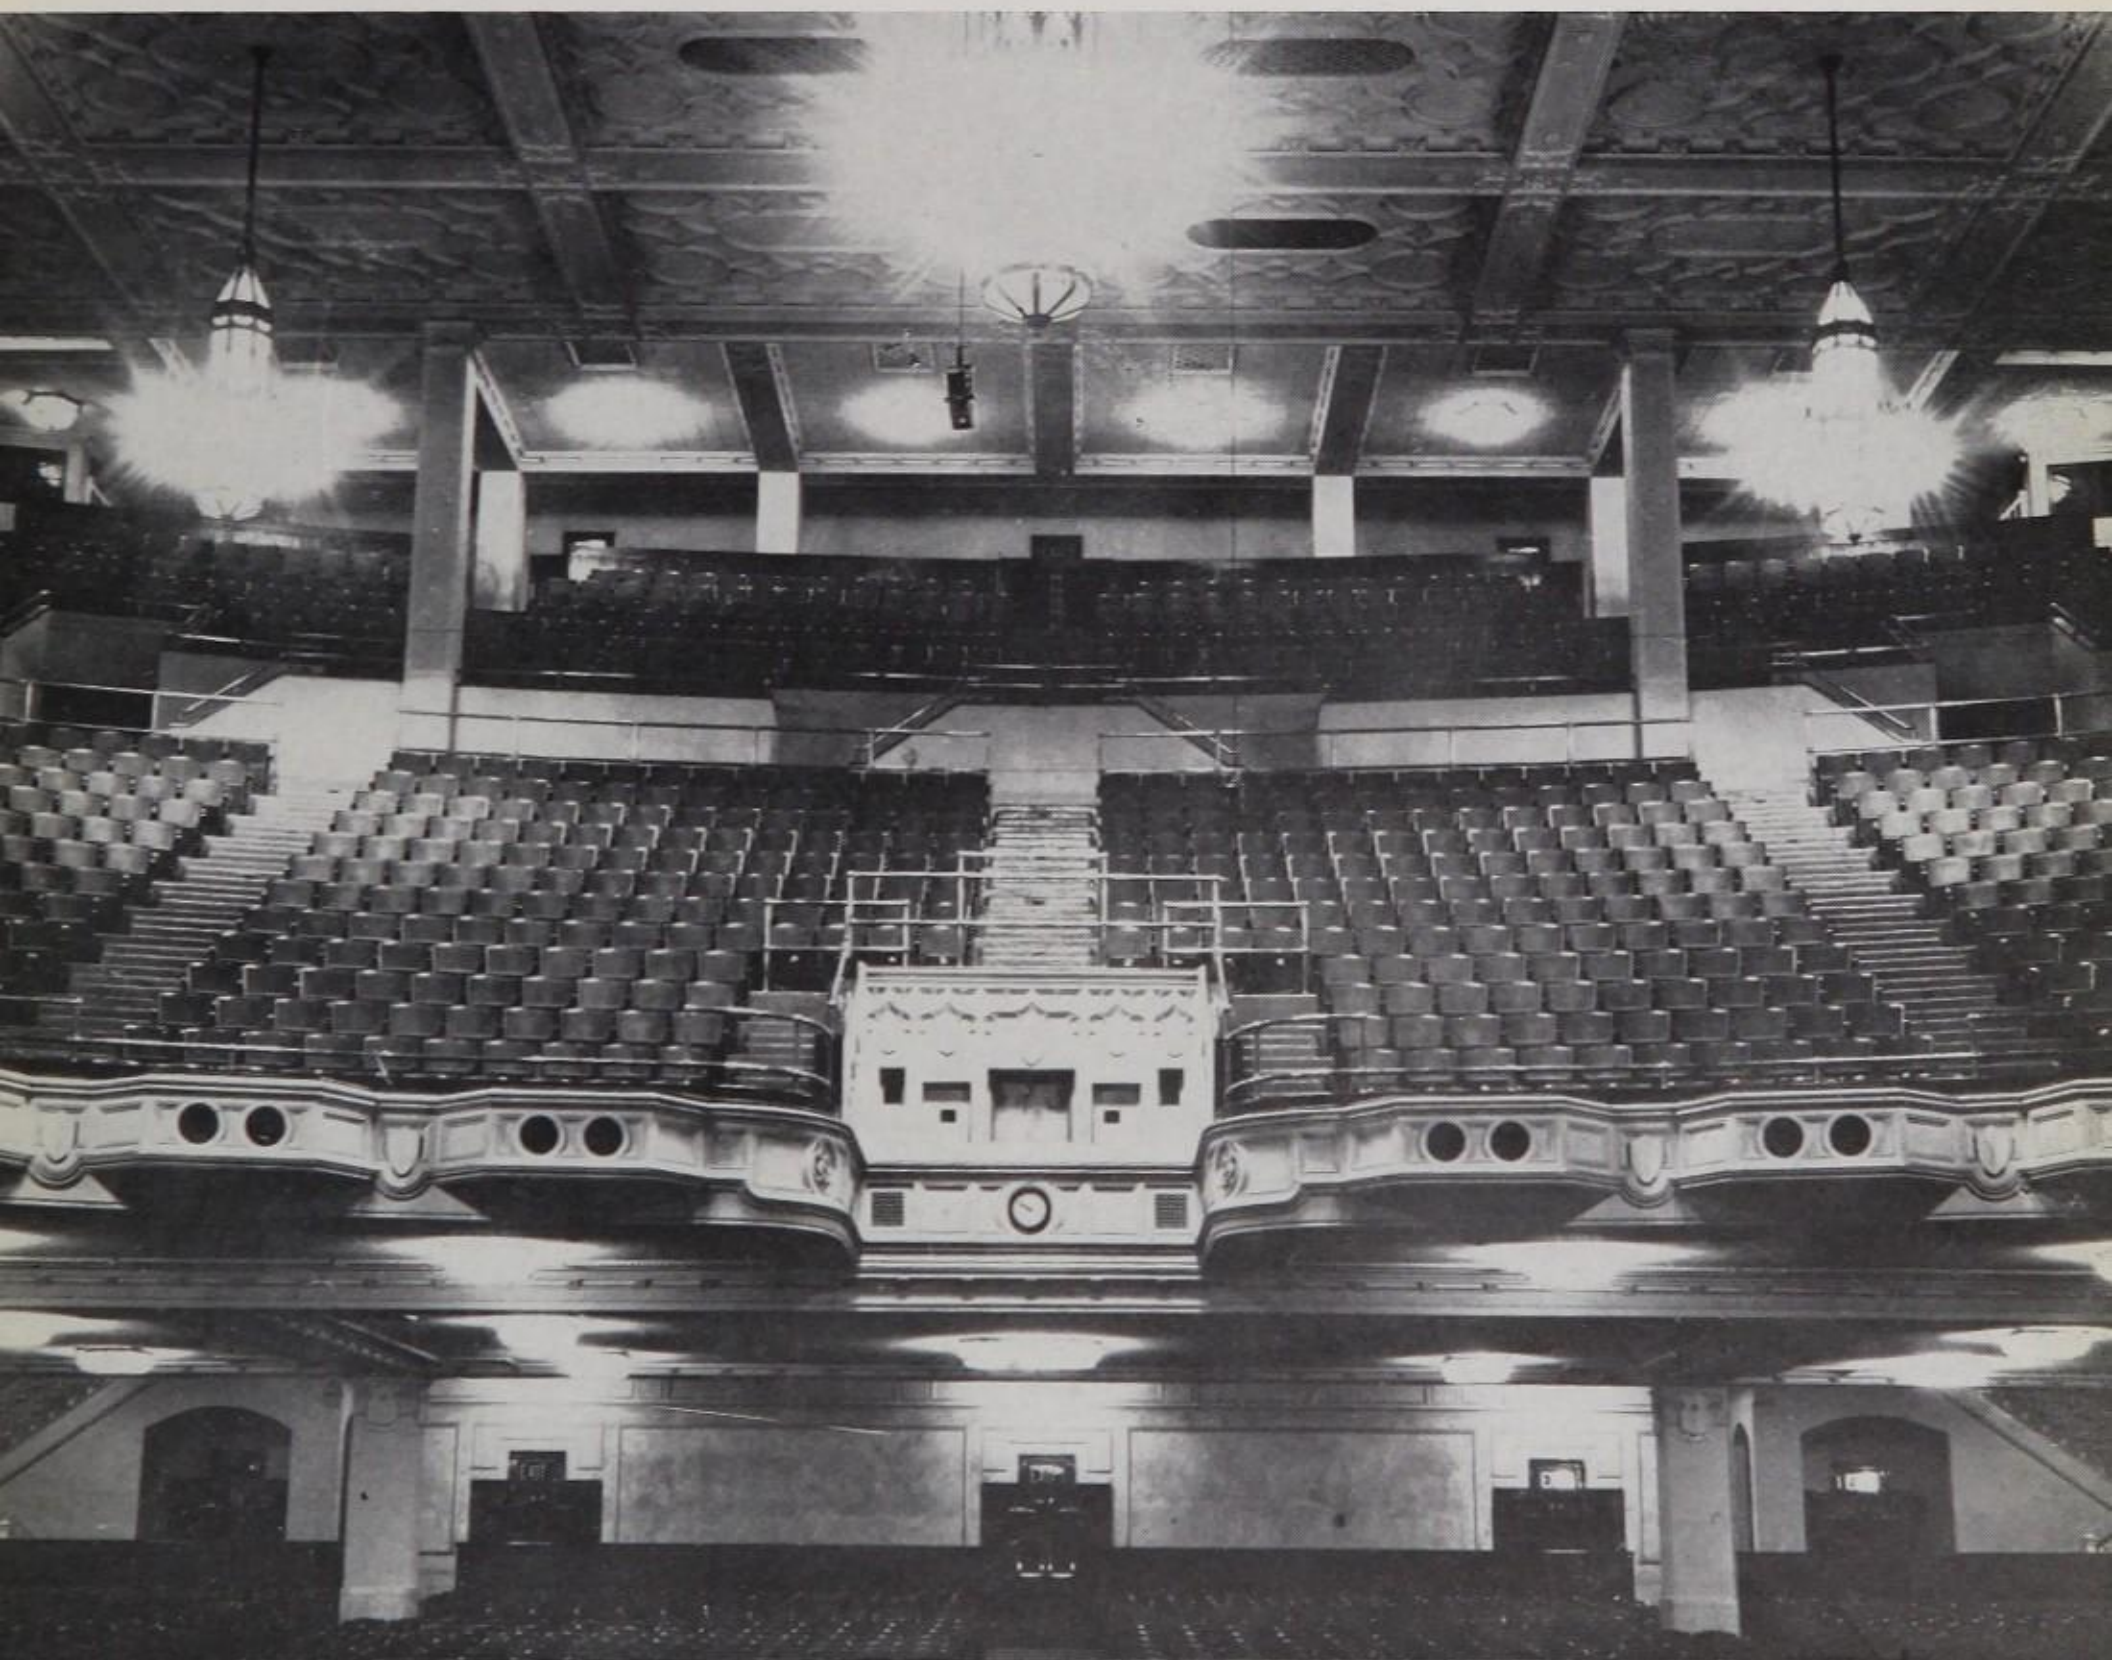

Comedy—The lights are dimmed. The curtains go up. A little third-termer walks fearlessly on stage and adjusts the microphone.

Tragi-Comedy—Campaign speeches, concerts, broadcasts, beamed to the city from the vitals of the Tech auditorium.

Awards, medals and the principal always making some humorous and appropriate remark.

Special assemblies—D-Day, V-E Day. Solemn moments. The memorial assembly at the tragic death of our beloved Franklin Roosevelt.

Filled with new visions, we are proudly ushered out.

IN RHYTHM WITH OUR LIVES

The part that music plays in the lives of the people is very important, whether it be a simple folksong, the hot trumpet of a swing band, or the majestic beauty of a full symphony orchestra.

Huge pipes straining for the sky symbolizes the faith Tech's founders placed in music. Huge pipes loom—shuddering pipes, their resonance giving forth beauty at the will of the fingers passing over the great organ's keys.

Our own symphony orchestra, the melodious dance band, the smartly uniformed marching band, and the deep, masculine harmony of our glee club—under Messrs. Barden and Hansen—prove that this faith is justified.

It is comforting to know that in the midst of meshing gears and the work of science, we in Tech, can pause to revel in music's beauty before returning to our labors.

Testing- 2, 4, 6, 8, Woof, Woof, Hello Max

The radio training in Tech is probably as good as, or better than that which you can get in most colleges, we believe. Proving the excellence of Tech's education in this field were the results at the last conference of radio men from the forty-eight states, held at the Ohio State University.

In the division that our station, WNYE, was in, we took three out of the five possible first places, magnanimously leaving two for the rest of the country. Rather inconsiderate, we know, but that's the way it goes.

Radio at Tech is covered in everyone of its many phases. Students with a special aptitude for the work are given a chance to continue and advance their work. There are broadcasts over our own FM station, and work in television for those who are talented enough to be admitted to the All-City Workshop which meets here.

It's All

What makes math so fascinating? With me, it's the inspirational force behind it.

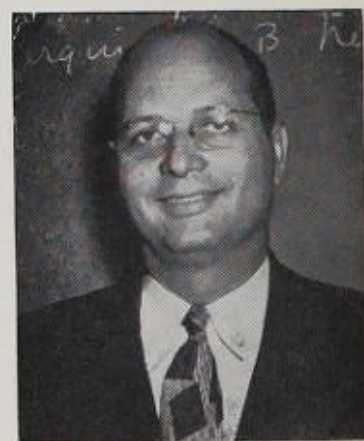

Let me show you what I mean. Ask me any problem. See how fast I answer? I'm a "whiz" at that. And at logs, plane and solid geometry, trig, intermediate and advanced algebra.

What else could I be after four years of having it pounded into my head? A flat-head.

Ah! Here's a situation. I'm at a ball game and I look around. People! So I start counting, counting. My head's a-whirl, and I'm dizzy from my exertions.

That's the way it always is, like the time I upset an ant hill and was there for two nights with a flashlight, counting.

Now I count for something.

One Tough Problem

As the teacher spoke, his pointer passing over the multi-colored lines, the labyrinth on the blackboard became a clear and precise picture. It was unlike any other picture that we had ever seen before. It was another of these magic tools of the engineer, orthographic projection.

Soon we learned the intricacies of the isometric, and we went on to draw cams, gears, and traverses. Houses took shape as our instruments moved over the paper.

As we mastered the techniques, we became architects and engineers designing our own blueprints, converting our ideas into realities. There is no thrill like that of achievement.

INDEXING THE THOUGHTS OF MAN

"And mom, our English teacher took us to the Tech library today. You should see it. It takes up the whole middle of the fifth floor. You've got to walk around the whole building on that floor if you want to get to the other side, because they won't let you walk through the library.

"You should see it, mom. It's bigger than the branch library. And it's so complete.

"One of the older fellows, he was a second-termer, told me that when you don't want to go to one of your classes, they're always glad to let you into the library.

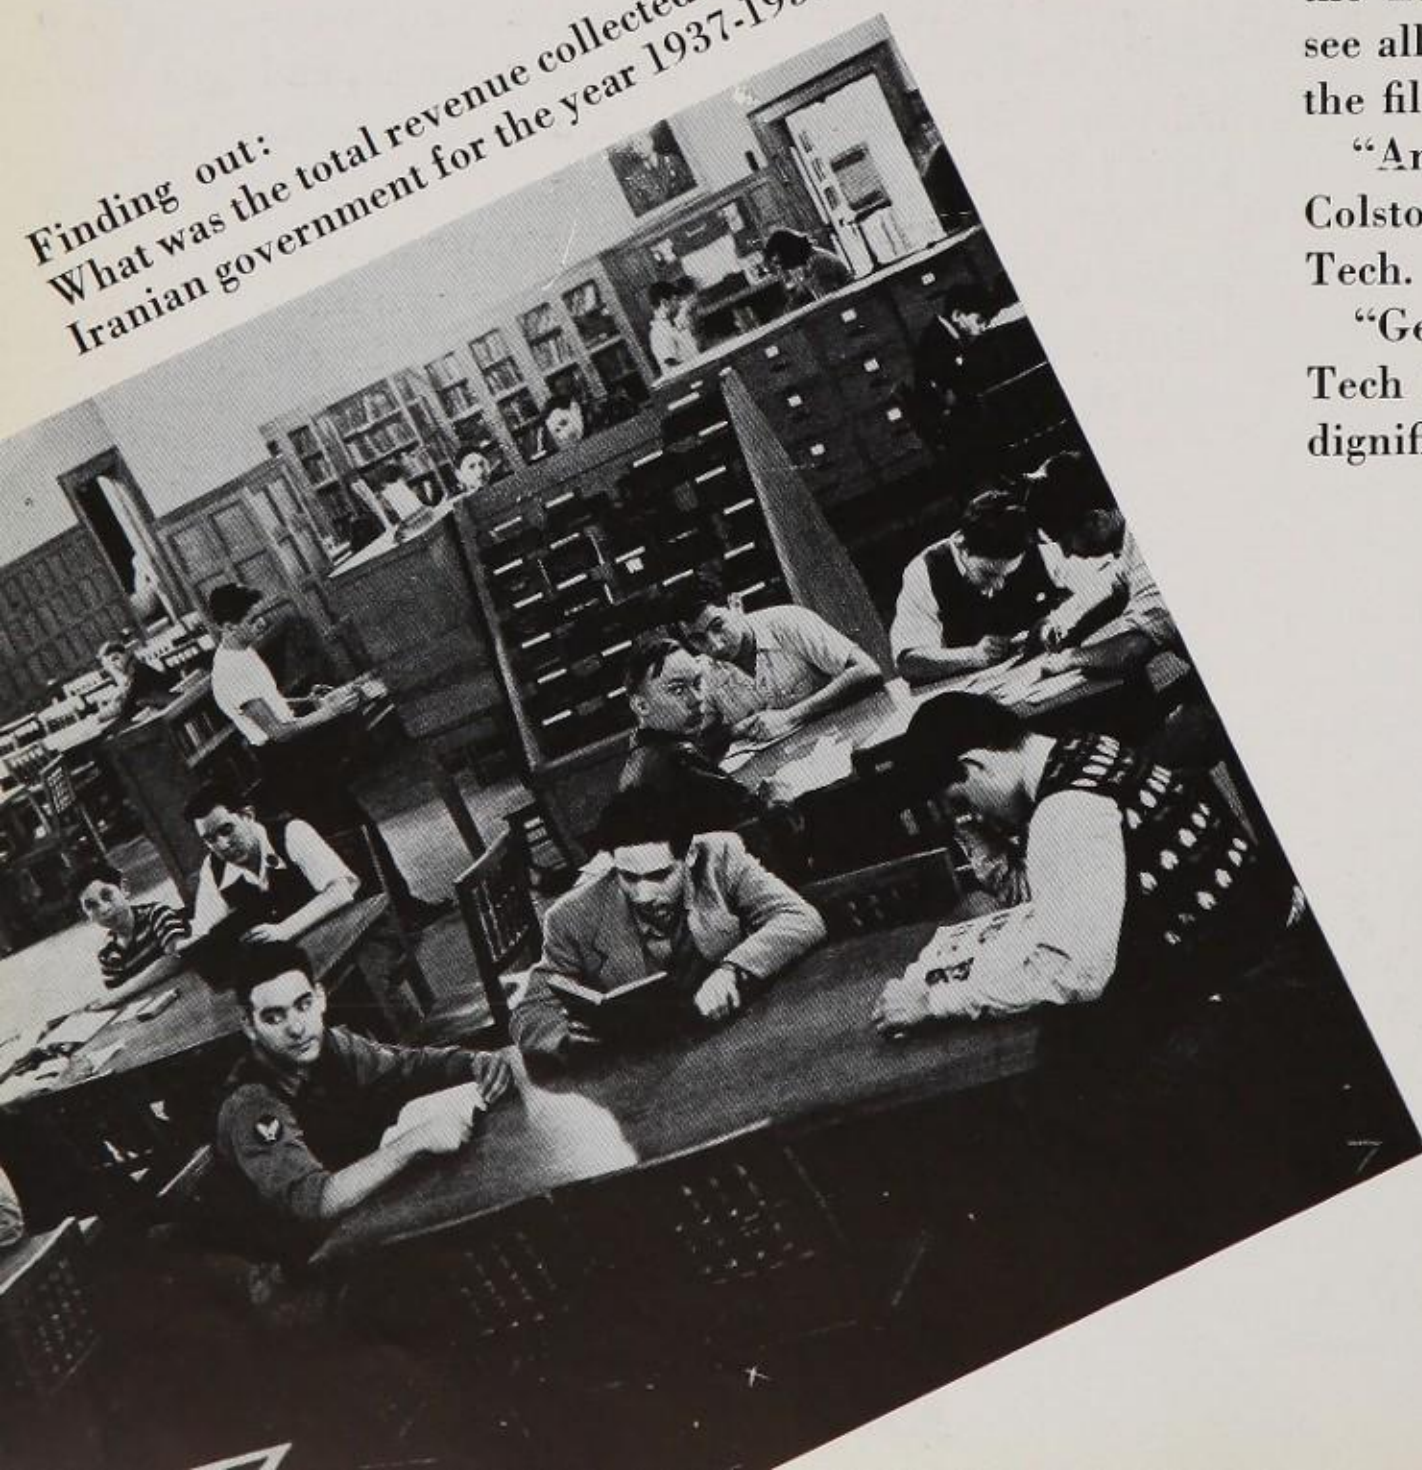

"And you should see all the engineering books our library has, and all the technical works, and all the fiction books. And you should see all the sets of encyclopedias, and the files of periodicals.

"And it's got a painting of Dr. Colston. He's the man who founded Tech. He looks like a very nice man.

"Gee, I wish you could see the Tech library, mom. It's so big and dignified and quiet and nice."

The Grandpapa of Tech's English

PLEASE FORGIVE US, WILLIAM, OLD BOY

It isn't exaggerating a bit when we say that English is a bulwark of Tech. It naturally must be.

From a well-chosen Literature course, and a profusion of gerunds, participles, and split infinitives, we come forth mature men who have a fine command of our language, a skill of which no people can be too proud.

There is opportunity to take special English courses in radio, creative writing, literature, journalism, and dramatics. Yes, English at Tech has sharpened for us our language tools.

Bill Maltz toed the foul line with thirty seconds left to play. He shot, and missed. The score stood Tech, 32; Jefferson, 32. Once again he eyed the basket. The ball arched into the air, and then swished through the hoop.

Tech had won 33-32 to clinch the 1944-1945 First Division title and gain a berth in the City Championship playoffs at Madison Square Garden.

The following year, the last under Coach Frank Salz, the Hoopsters won four of their first five games, but slumped the rest of the season to finish with a record of five victories and five losses.

The team, under its new coach, Henry Goldman, will suffer heavy losses through graduation this term. Among those leaving are Captain Willie Scharf, who was the squad's high scorer last season, Walter Deutsch, George Greenfield, and Manny Lefkowitz.

A long, arched, spiral pass whizzed through the air. A Blue-and-White clad figure leaped high and grabbed it for the winning touchdown. Johnny Malm's pass to Norm Falkin had clinched Tech's first mythical City Championship.

Also starring on that 1943 Championship team was Al Veling, who in 1944 set a new City record of 144 points in eight games.

Last season the Cirillomen sparked by Gordon Fleming, who scored 98 points, and Frank Downing had a record of four triumphs and three defeats.

Co-Captains of the gridsters this year were Fleming and George Salvino, whose brilliant line play at guard has become widely respected by opposing players.

The squad will be hard hit by graduation this term, also losing back Bud Hensley, and linemen Vin Birra, Red McLaughlin, and Bert Levine.

called third strike

It seems as if destiny was just against the baseball team last season when the team, coached by Mr. Wagner, lost the Boro Championship.

The squad, paced by the pitching of Bob Sundstrom and George Smith, won ten of their eleven PSAL encounters. The team's only defeat came at the hands of Madison with a score of 1-0, after outfielder Sal Ferrarie failed to touch second base on what would have been a sparkling, inside-of-the-park four-master.

Thus, Tech's best team since the Championship nine of 1944, finished in second place. But what's too bad about that?

"We're swimming against Tech today; well, here's where we lose again!"

In the past five years, Tech's swimmers have run up amazing records by winning over fifty straight dual meets, copping two championships and four Boro titles.

Stars of the undefeated team were Captain Dick Haughey, top-notch free-styler, and Alge Bacey, who clinched the 1946 100-yard City Backstroke Championship for Tech.

Topped only by Fort Hamilton and Jackson, the 1946 edition of Tech's Golf team, coached by Mr. John Balsam, placed third in the nine-team PSAL league. The season was the third since the re-organization of the team after an eleven-year lay-off.

Lennie Steiner

Probably no other Tech athlete has gained so much recognition as Captain Lennie Steiner of the Tennis team. Since his freshman year, he has been the shining light of our netmen. Last season, Lennie led the team to capture the City Championship. After Mr. Burns left the school, Mr. Edward Weisberger took over the coaching position.

Highlighting the season was Steiner's victory over Erasmus' Sidney Schwartz.

Both Steiner and Don Cooper, another stalwart of the Racqueteers for the past few seasons, will be lost through graduation this term.

bulls-eye!

After successful seasons in 1944 and 1945, the Tech Rifle team slumped last year. Greatly weakened by the loss of Gil Murphy and other sharpshooters via the diploma route, they were able to win only three matches, while dropping an equal number.

This season's squad was captained by Dick Truesdell.

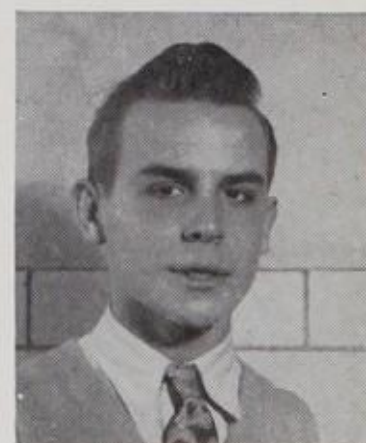

Last season, Tech's Track team emerged from obscurity and became a leading contender for the PSAL Track Crown. The team set three new 880-yard relay records and finished a close second in the 1200-yard relay as the City champs. Graduates from last season's team are Bob Hatch and Ray Meixner. The Cross-Country team loses Pete Palermo and Charles Kyle. Life runs on.

bowling 'em over

By virtue of their two closing victories over Franklin K. Lane, the Tech Bowling Team copped the mythical City Crown for 1945. The Blue and White Keglers tapped a newly-formed league composed of Madison, Boys High, and Lane.

The Engineers made a comparatively poor showing last year, after suffering heavy losses via the diploma route.

Last term, Sand took the laurels in the Intramural League, winning the playoff from Nickel.

Returning to competition after a thirteen year lapse, the 1945 Tech Soccer team finished in fifth place in league play, beating Erasmus for their only triumph. The Kickers, however, gained a moral victory by holding the City-Championship Lafayette squad to a 1-0 score.

With Mr. Dorin continuing in his coaching role, soccer carries on as the only sport in which you use your head and get a kick out of it.

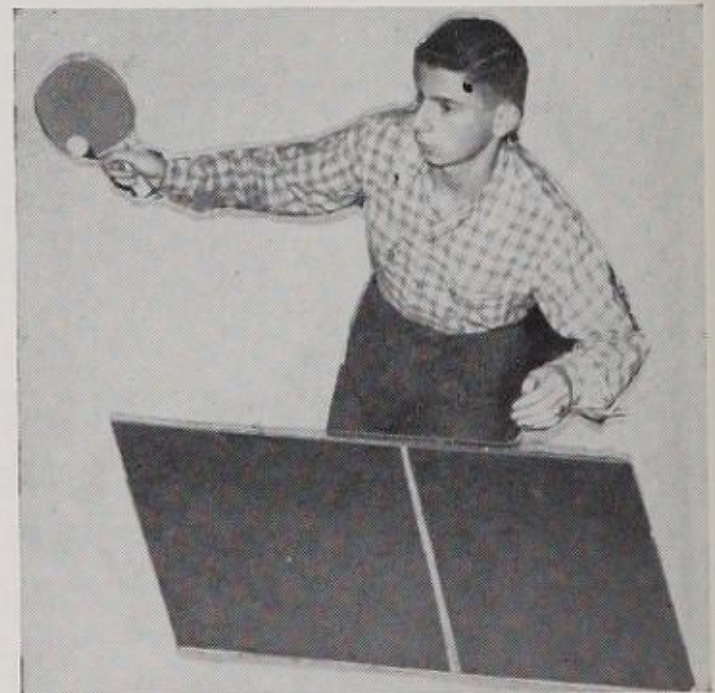

ping-puck!

What makes hockey such an exciting sport? Ed Shea speeding down the rink with the puck, defenseman Bob Burk vigorously checking an opponent into the boards, a pile-up in front of the net are only part of Tech's most colorful sport.

Last season, the team, coached by Mr. Armand Bassi, placed fourth in a four-team league.

One of the few sports in Tech which has no PSAL league is Table Tennis, known to Joe Technite as Ping Pong. The team, however, coached by Mr. Balsam, hopes to compete in regularly scheduled matches with other schools in the near future.

TECH ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

The past four years have produced the best teams and individual stars in Tech athletic history. During the 1943-44 season, no less than six Blue and White teams won championships, and each produced its share of outstanding performers and thrills.

There was Al Veling, whose sparkling play led the undefeated 1943 Engineer eleven to the city title, and who came back the next year to establish a new scholastic scoring record of 144 points. Another leading member of that unbeaten grid machine was All-Scholastic end Norm Falkin, who doubled as a slugging left fielder on the Baseball Team.

The 1944 Diamondmen copped the Borough crown, thanks to Dick Salomon's .420 batting average and several high-class pitching performances by Bill Maroney. Salomon's average was the highest in Tech baseball circles since Tommy Holmes set an all-time PSAL mark.

"The Basket Twins," Sid Schlossberg and Bill Maltz, broke into the quintet's starting lineup at the beginning of the 1943-44 season, but didn't reach their peak until the next year, when they paced the Courtmen to the borough diadem.

The other sports have also produced several stars, including Al Frost, who was Eastern States 100 yard Dash Champion; Ray Resnick, City Handball Singles Titlist; and several members of the unbeaten Swim Squad.

Lennie Steiner came on to be undefeated in three of his four years of High School tennis competition and led the Tech Netmen to two city titles. He gained recognition as one of the best young players in the country, and was selected as a member of the United States Junior Davis Cup Team.

Gordon Fleming took the place of the Navy-bound Veling, and showed unmistakable signs of greatness in running and passing the Gridsters to two successful campaigns. The linemen, who receive very little glory from anyone except the backs whose fame they make possible, were led by such hard-hitting stars as George Gerung and George Salvino.

Other long-to-be-remembered names include hoopster Willie Scharf, speedster John Suhr, and sharpshooter Gil Murphy.

As time passes, this list will continue to grow. New faces will push their way into the limelight, and perhaps be among the leaders in the Tech Athletic Hall of Fame.

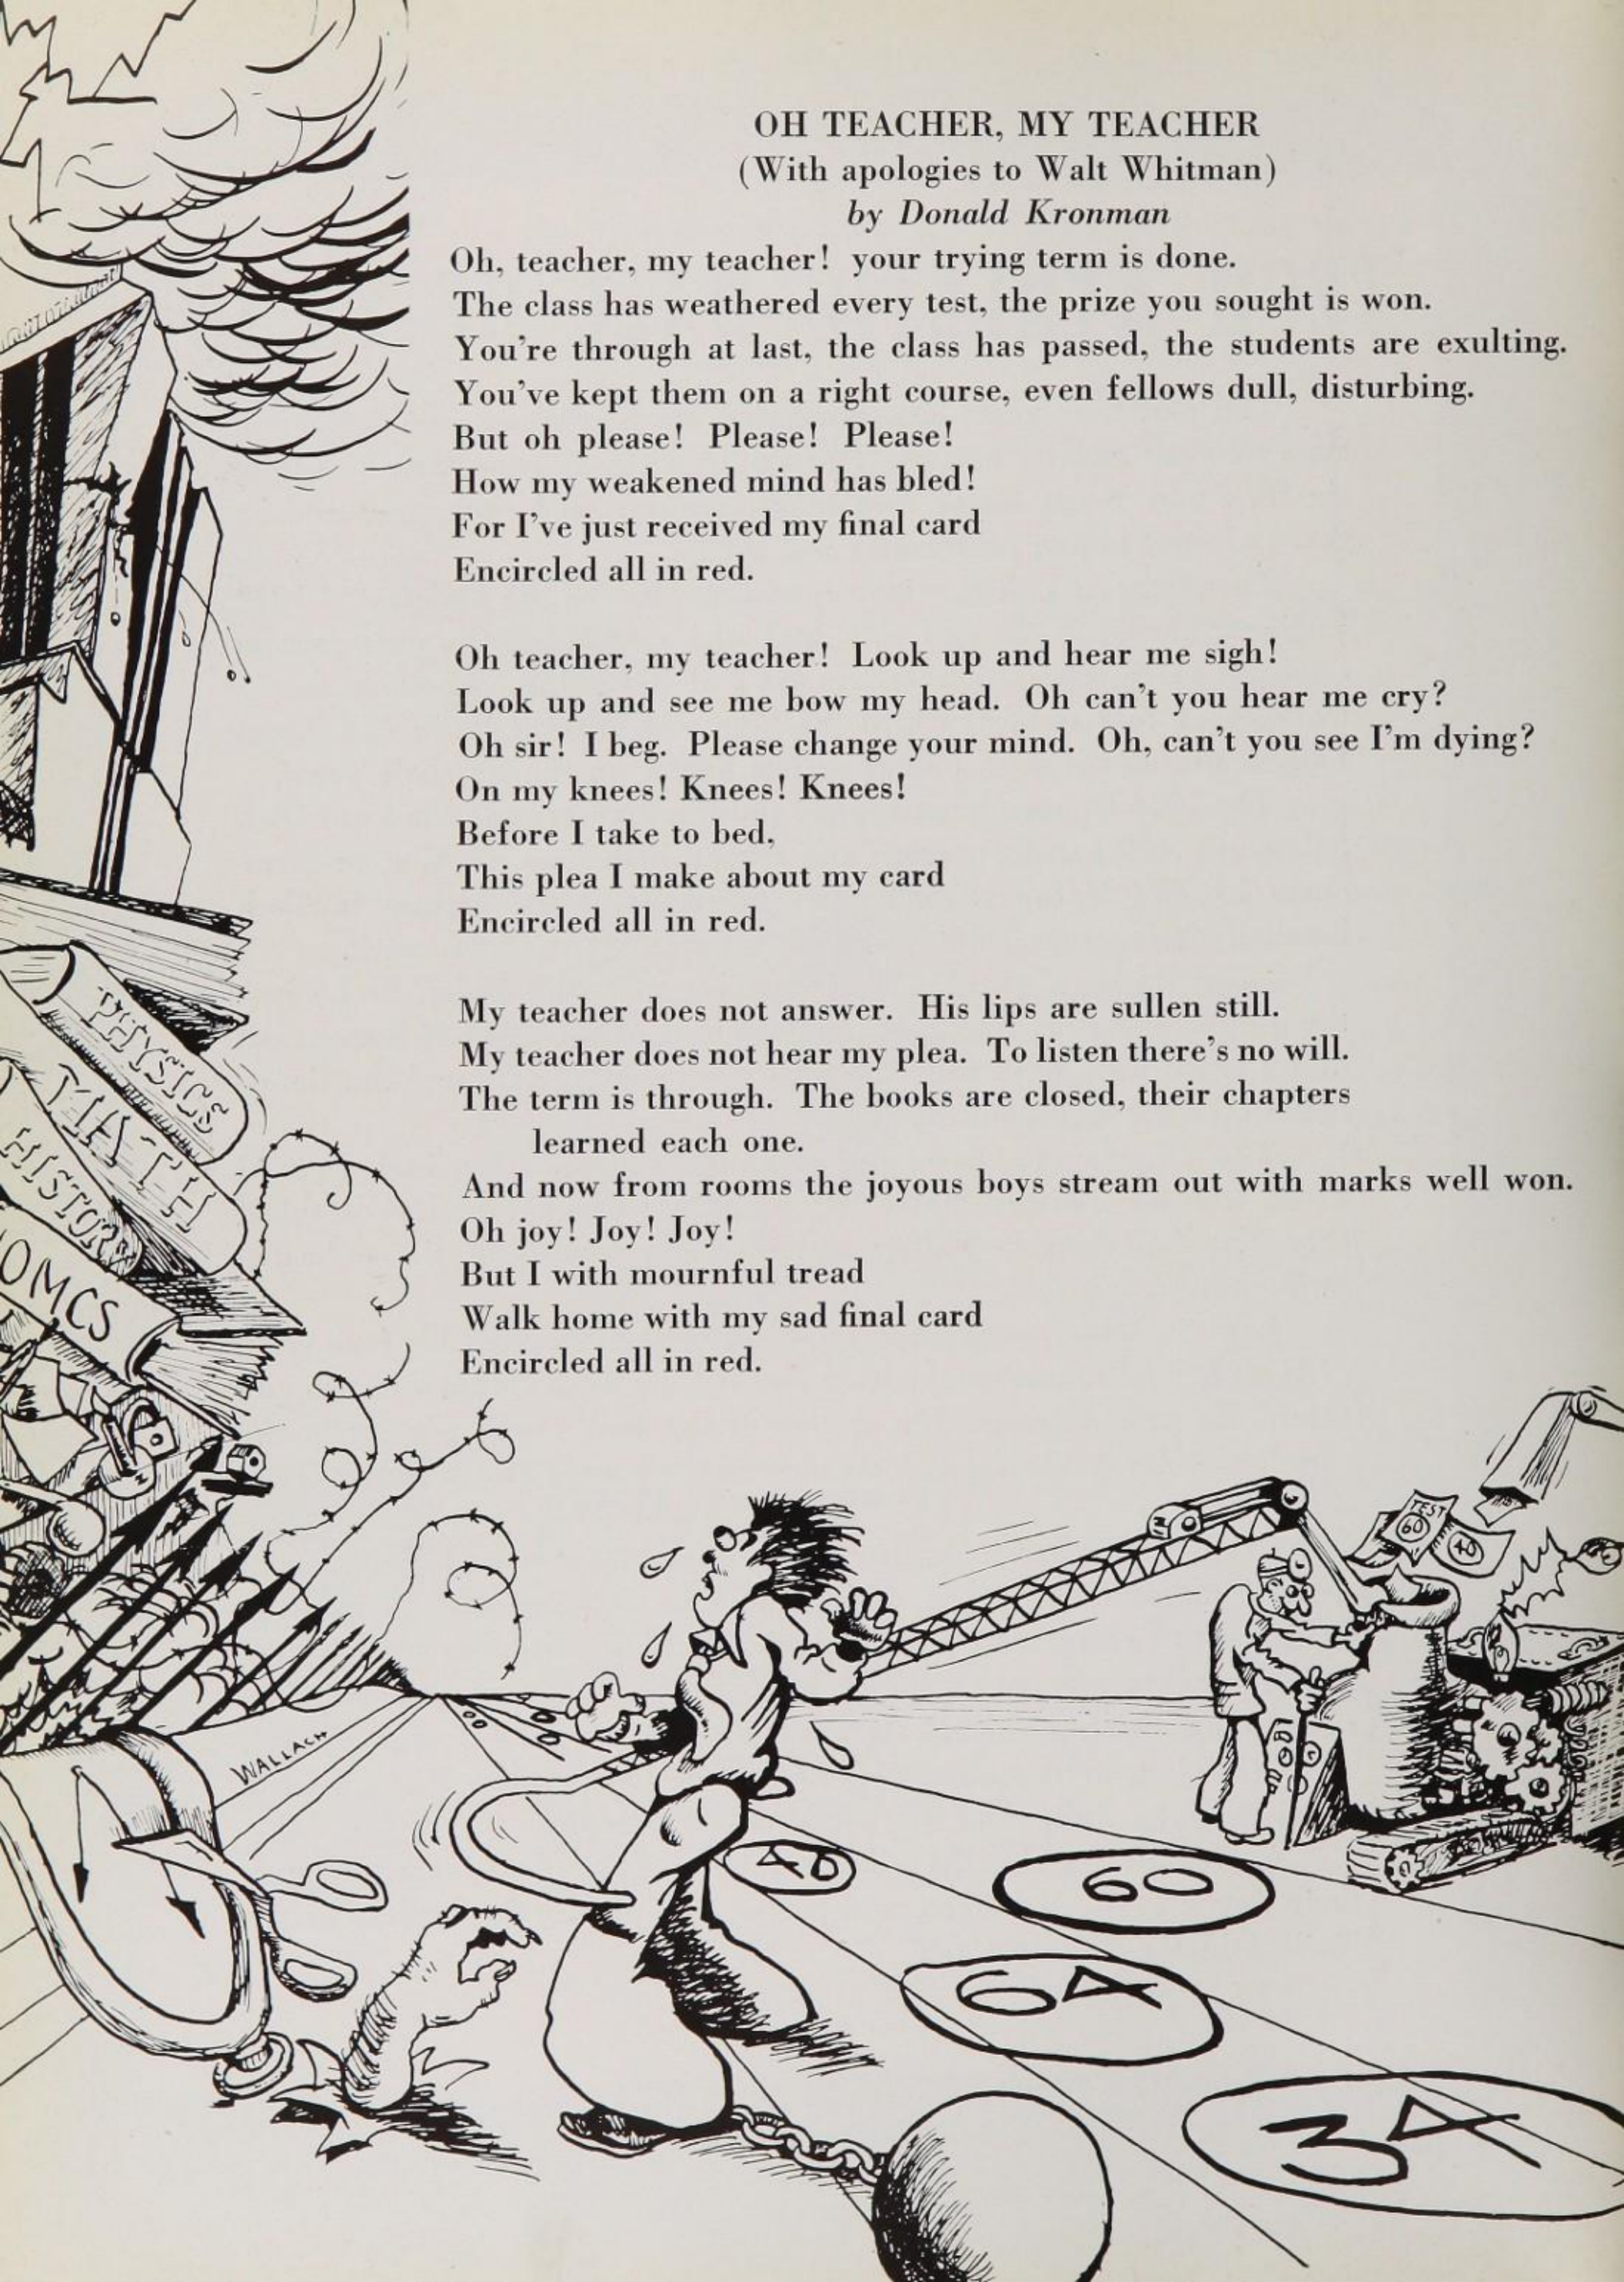

OH TEACHER, MY TEACHER
(With apologies to Walt Whitman)
by Donald Kronman

Oh, teacher, my teacher! your trying term is done.
The class has weathered every test, the prize you sought is won.
You're through at last, the class has passed, the students are exulting.
You've kept them on a right course, even fellows dull, disturbing.
But oh please! Please! Please!
How my weakened mind has bled!
For I've just received my final card
Encircled all in red.

Oh teacher, my teacher! Look up and hear me sigh!
Look up and see me bow my head. Oh can't you hear me cry?
Oh sir! I beg. Please change your mind. Oh, can't you see I'm dying?
On my knees! Knees! Knees!
Before I take to bed,
This plea I make about my card
Encircled all in red.

My teacher does not answer. His lips are sullen still.
My teacher does not hear my plea. To listen there's no will.
The term is through. The books are closed, their chapters learned each one.

And now from rooms the joyous boys stream out with marks well won.
Oh joy! Joy! Joy!
But I with mournful tread
Walk home with my sad final card
Encircled all in red.

FOR FUTURE REFERENCE

Some day, some ambitious Technite is going to say to himself, "Say, I wonder how many boys were on Arista, and S.O.S., and how many were Seniors and Veterans during the term of January, 1947?"

And so, for the benefit of that lonely Technite, we hereby present the facts.

There are approximately 680 students in Tech claiming nine-tenths of the law in connection with the Senior Pin. This means that there are 136 in the first fifth, 136 in the second fifth, and that makes about, uh, let's see now, $1/5$ and $2/5$ makes 316, no, no, darn it, I should have stuck to whole numbers. Anyway, it's a pretty big class.

Now, of these 680 Seniors, approximately 90 boast membership in Arista. This amount is about one-eighth the total register of the S.O.S.

In all, there are about 200 Vets in Tech many of whom have come back to renew old friendships. And the Russians think they have a Five-Year plan.

But let us not forget the T, which is already an established "word" in today's world: Football (T-formation), Politics (Truman), and Post-War Conditions (Terrible). Last term, 410 Major T's were awarded.

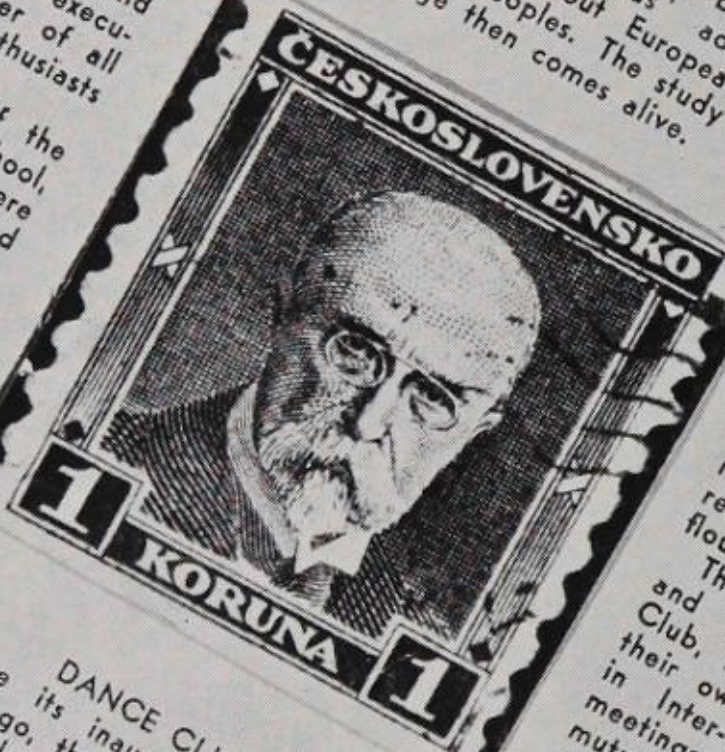

Now there is one more bit of statistics vital to Technites. At the last count, of 6000 Technites boasting better halves, approximately 4800 are brunettes, 999 are redheads, 300 are blondes, and one is But I'd better wake up out of that one.

Your Move, Mate----

a segment of Tech activities

STAMP CLUB
What is the hobby of kings and street urchins, of freshmen and seniors, of engineers and executives? Philately! This peer of all avocations finds many enthusiasts at Tech.
The Stamp Club, one of the largest societies in our school, holds weekly get-togethers, where its members come to trade and "glibly speak of 'partial imperforates' and minute 'engraving variations.'" And would you like a one-cent stamp as a souvenir? Take that one of British Guiana 1856, now worth a mere $50,000.

LANGUAGE CLUBS
Among the perennials which never seem to lose their place among the popularity rank are the language clubs. The Dutch Dozen led by Mr. Abraham Ber-man, and the French-American Club, mentored by Mr. Albert Hébert offer to those boys with "international minds" additional information about European culture and peoples. The study of a language then comes alive.

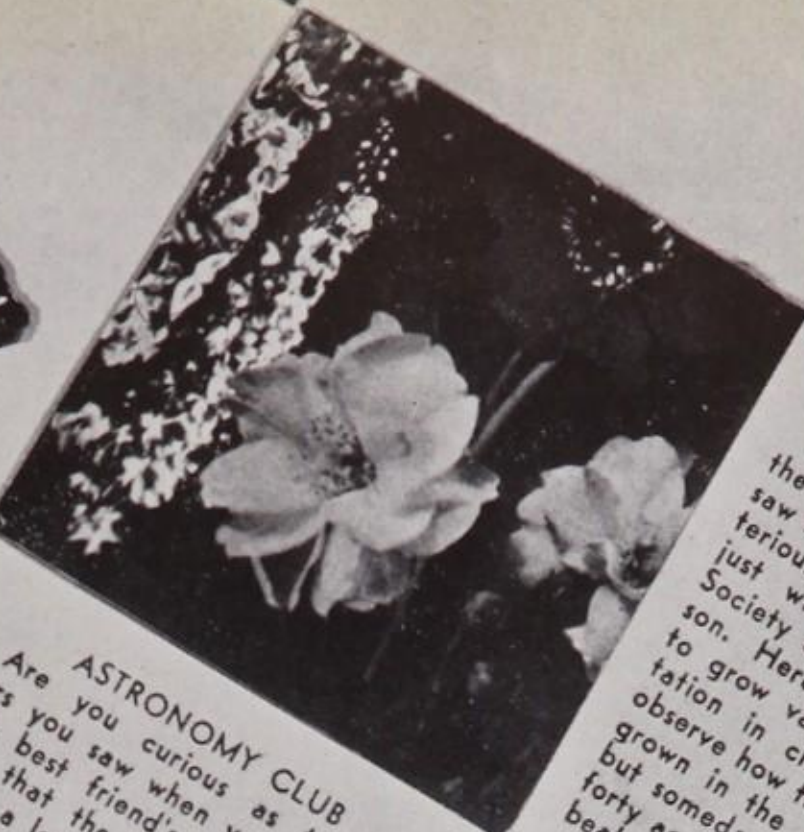

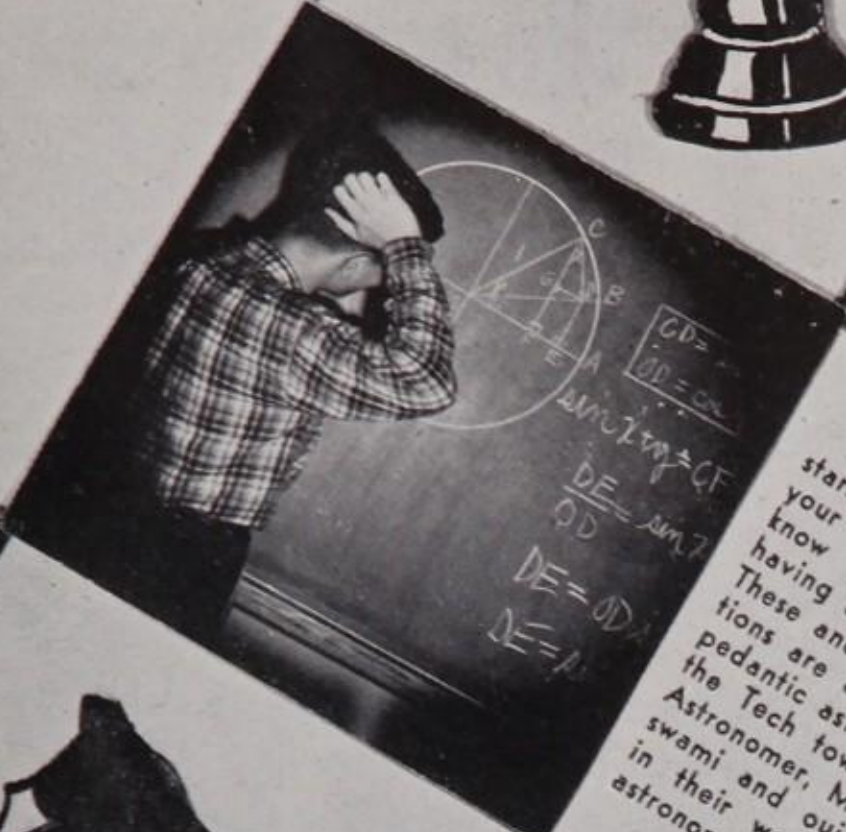

RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES
The students of Tech form a brotherhood of almost every religion, nationality, and color. Living in Tech is a course in human relations, and religious activities flourish.
The Newman Club, High-Y Club and Menorah Hebrew Culture Club, in addition to conducting their own affairs, frequently join in Inter-Faith meetings of Tech pals increase the mutual respect of each for each, and develop the brotherhood that is basic to all.

DANCE CLUB
Since its inauguration several terms ago, the Dance Instruction Club under the direction of Miss Ruth Carpenter, has drawn exclamations of "Beat Me Daddy and I'll hit you back" from Technites of former years. Those engineers who are a bit backward in the shuffle are coached by other Technites. And once in a while there are real, live girl instructors from other schools.

THE PUBLIC SPEAKING SOCIETY
The "Dan'l Websters of Tech, better know as the Public Speaking Society, concern themselves with molding the voices of the Don Wilsons of Tech under the guidance of Mr. Daniel Daly. Many a slumbering Technite has been gently awakened to the fact that he is in school by the soothing voice of a Public Address Speaker as he intones the restful, "Good morning, boys!" over the P.A. system during A.M. prefects on Assembly days.

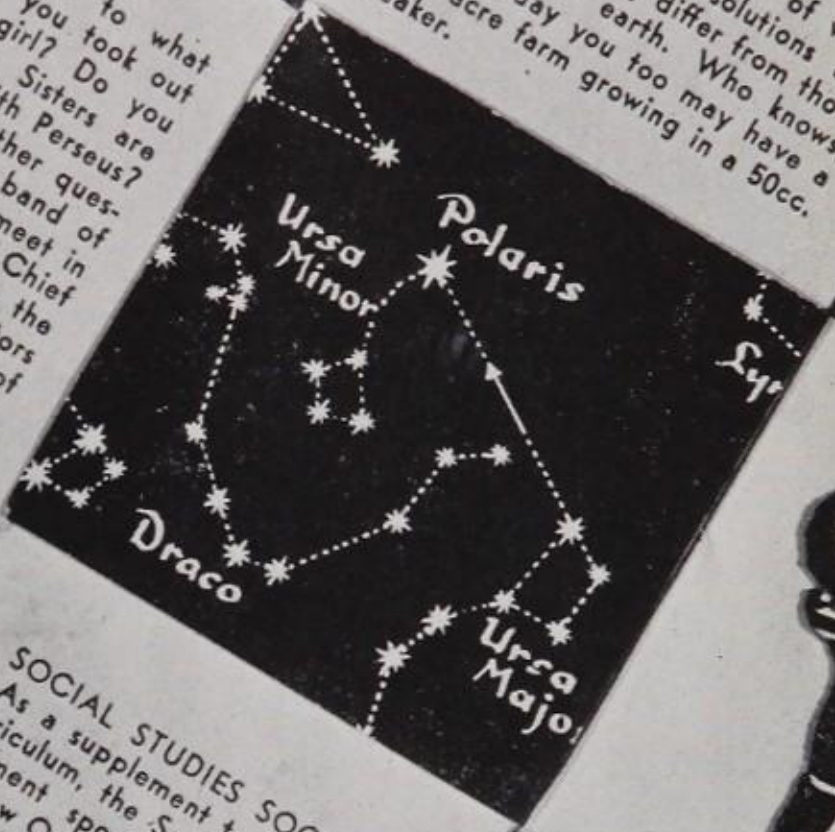

CHESS CLUB
Every week, King Sjogren and his Bishops and Knights meet their Pawns in a game of Chess. One indulge in the more popular forms of after school activities, the Chess Club of the more national recognition has received national recognition after George Kramer, won several championships. "Your move." "Checkmate." "I've been ROOK."

HYDROPONICS SOCIETY
 If you ever wandered the halls some late afternoon, saw some plants growing in a just witnessing the Hydroponic Society at work under Mr. Ferguson. Here, the members attempt to grow various species of vegetation in chemical solutions and observe how they differ from those grown in the earth. Who knows, but someday you too may have a forty acre farm growing in a 50cc. beaker.

ASTRONOMY CLUB
 Are you curious as to what stars you saw when you took out your best friend's girl? Do you know that the Seven Sisters are having a love affair with Perseus? These and a thousand other questions are answered by a band of pedantic astronomers who meet in the Tech tower. Here the Chief Astronomer, Mr. Coyle, leads the swami and ouiji board operators in their weekly investigations of astronomy and rocket explorations.

SOCIAL STUDIES SOCIETIES
 As a supplement to the regular curriculum, the Social Studies Department sponsors several clubs. The new One-World Club, the Historical Society, and the Consumer Club provide a fascinating opportunity to increase Technites' knowledge, both in History and current problems, by giving them a chance to discuss topics for which there is no time in the classroom.

CAMERA CLUB
 Those Technites who do a little more in the photographic line than just snap pictures of their best girls, can be found at the Camera Club, where, under the direction of Mr. Emil Tron, they discuss shutter speeds, and color filters, and of course pretty girls. Among the shutterbugs, there are many school publication staff members proving the reliability of the old saying that one picture is more adequate than a thousand words.

THE FORGE CLUB
 Sweat may be seen rolling off the brows of the boys in Tech's Forge Club. The club does not "Shoe horses while-U-wait!" but concerns itself with the more technical methods of making many useful and ornamental objects. To the chorus of hammers on anvils, the boys make fireplace equipment, shop tools, and household hardware. After a hard day's work in the shop, the members go home and practice their Math, English and Forging. Good going Mr. Dellert!

The Cooks Who Spoiled the Broth

First, let's analyze the situation. What is a Senior Celeb? Perhaps we can best answer this question, using as our answer that famous phrase that came echoing down to us from D-Day, as our men stormed ashore, namely, "This is IT!"

Precisely! And why should IT have its picture in this book? Well, because someone has to pose for some slapstick pictures to cheer (depress?) the reader! And since these fellows are known and recognizable, we'll have our purpose accomplished so much the better.

Now, let's set about our task. They are all assembled. Pick out any IT at random. Ah! Here's an intelligent looking one. (How did he get in here?) What's your name?

"Well, uh, m-m-m-m."

I see, Bob Feldheim. And you are an IT, because?

"Well, uh, m-m-m-m."

Oh, I get it, Arista Leader. Anything else?

"Well, uh, m-m-m-m. Blueprint Co-Editor-In-Chief."

"That's all?"

"No-o-o. I am also Features Editor on ye olde Survey. That job also roped me in as the author of Chips 'n Quips which is subtitled, How to Lose Friends and Influence White Mice."

Oh! Are you ready to have your picture taken?

"No sir! I dasn't move without my noble colleague, Sir Rolf Rosenthal, who had a hand in cooking up this Blueprint dish. He's my Co-Editor-in-Chief."

How do you do, Sir Rolf?

"Ugh!"

Is it true that you are Co-Editor-in-Chief of this noble publication? And that you also fiddled with Survey business?

"Ugh!"

O.K., then, get the stage set, cameras ready to roll. Prop man, two chefs' uniforms for these two ITS. We refer you to the outcome. They are, to put it bluntly, cooking up the Blueprint. Notice the cooking vessel, stirring spoon, silverware, and ink. (Bless us and save us from the Board of Education.) Great start, isn't it?

Next IT, please. Your name?

"Tsotsos."

Careful of your language, friend. Censors are continually breathing down our necks. You were saying . . . ?

"Don't go o-o-o-ohing at me! You and six hundred others gave me my start towards power by electing me Senior Class President, peasant! And don't go and get any phony ideas like slipping me a doped coke, 'cause I've got my strong-arm man always handy . . . just in case."

This bully? On your side?

"Watch how you speak of your superior. I am chief of all Martial law within this territory. Commandant Walter Krot, now in command. Understand?"

Yes, but how did you get such an infamous start?

"On the 0-9."

Well then, you had best be careful how you speak to me. My Uncle, Mr. Brown, would send you back to the Winter 0-9 Front on just a rise of my eyebrow. (Remember those terrible Russian Winters? Clever parallel, eh? No? Oh, well.)

"Yes, Master. Your wish is my, oh, you know!"

All right, then, pose. You too, Bonaparte. We'll call you "Boney" for short, because it reminds me so much that you got a head. (Thusly, these two fine caricatures.)

"—D, uh, pardon me, friend, but have you seen a handsome actor around here who looks like me?"

Perish forbid. But you don't look like too bad a subject for a picture. Your name, please?

"Just call me 87. That's the number of the Survey Office on the Tech Interphone system. That's me, Herbert Dorfman, Kid Survey, Survey Editor-in-Chief."

Want your picture took?

"I'd rather wait for my 'boys' to get here."

O.K. then. We'll get you in a little later. Is that Ed Shea? Well, I do believe it is.

"You were calling me?"

Yeah, what's the rush?

"I've been called upon to act as Judge in a serious case of assault and battery. As President of the G.O., cases like this often come my way."

I see. And who are the defendants?

"Three vandals in the Survey office, and they're charged with beating the deadline." (In the background is heard the serene theme of The Corn Is Green, but what could we do?)

Hurry! We may yet catch them in the act.—Crime photographer! Hurry!

(Time out, change of scene.)

Ah, here we are and there they are! Shea, take their names.

"I'm Mike Levitas, a little prairie flower who's growing wilder by the hour, and if you don't let go, I'll break yer arm!"

"Young man," says Shea, "why do you and your friends commit such a felony? For this, we will have you broken. What can we break you of?"

"Well, for one, I'm Vice-Leader of Arista, and I'll take this opportunity to remind each loyal member to shine his button every morning with Somebody's Floor Wax (plug) for that added sheen and luster. I've used it faithfully for the past 35 years."

"Don't listen to his alibi, Judge." (That's Arthur Harvey butting in. We'll fix him later. Such an idea, ruining the act.) "He planned it all. But I can't really blame him. I took a few whacks at that deadline myself, and we both have good reason to, for he's News Editor and I'm Sports Editor of the Survey."

"And I'm Clubs Editor. Mort Shakun reporting."

Glad to see you! (Rights granted by Phil Silvers).

"I'm the Judge here!" bellows Shea, and silence reigns. (Rains, get it? See Picture↓)

"My boys!" Reenter Kid Survey.

Are you related?

"Yes, the same ink flows through our veins. Hail to Kid Survey! Hail!" (Kid Survey's just come out of it, get it?)

"Look, Judge Shea? These fellows look too kind to be able to perpetrate such a ghastly crime (courtesy Lemont Cranston, man-about-town). But you're good and pure. Let's take your picture,"—(and it was done).

Who's that? Ah, you look familiar. Your name, please.

"Ah'll dance and sing mah way toward brighter Horizons."

Huh?

"Horizons, son. That's a Tech mag. I edit it; and ah'm proud of it."

Are you a Southerner?

"Naw, Ah get that from mah name, Sheldon Lee Berens."

Yes, General. Let us take your picture. (The prop men work double time on this one.)

It's all so symbolic. Berens is leaving town. And he has good reasons to. We're catching the next train out, too.

Hitching onto the caboose also will be Bob Braydon, Art Editor of the Blueprint, who also acts as Senior Class Vice-President, and Mart DeChristafaro, Art Editor of Horizons and Bob McCarthy, venerable Chief Justice of the student court, and chief inspector of the S.O.S. Sorry we couldn't squeeze your pictures in, boys.

We're sorry, also that we can't mention all Technites. They are deserving of credit. But we just don't have the space.

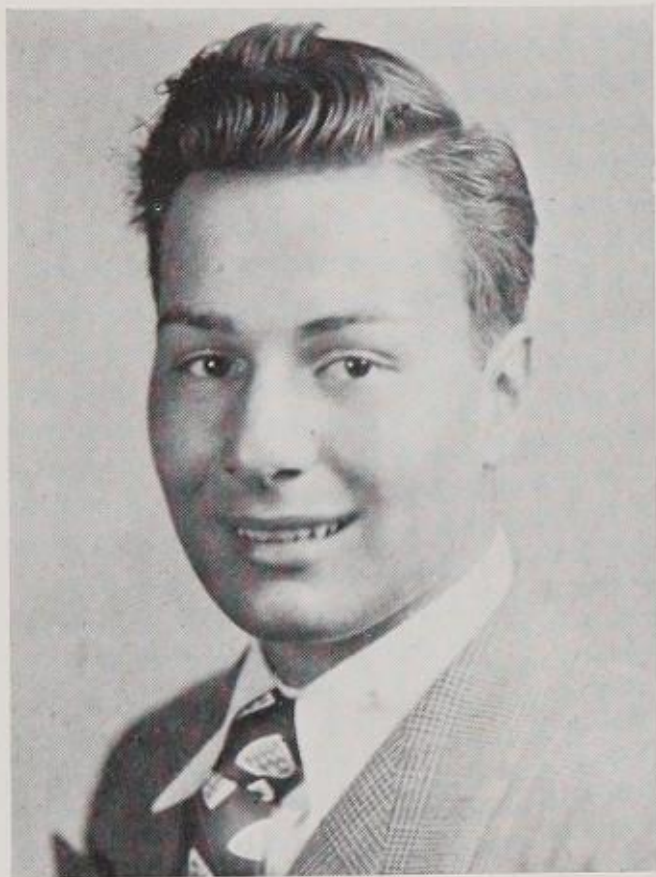

Levitas, Shakun, Harvey
We accuse...
